Attorney General Takes Stand In His Own Defense

EKERN DENIES FILING FAKE EXPENSE ITEM

Says His Firm Did no Insurance Business in Wisconsin Since 1922

QUITS WHEN NOMINATED

Spoke in Senate Committee of Whole on Bill Only When Invited, He Says

Madison — Attorney General Herman L. Ekers Friday sketched before the special senatorial committee his activities in the insurance field as the beginning of his effort to refute accusations by W. Stanley Smith, state insurance commissioner, that he acted improperly while holding public office. The hearings will be resumed next Wednesday.

Taking the stand for the first time in the hearings, he told of his objection to the insurance code revision bill, which precipitated the differences between the two officials, explained that he had severed his connection with private interests which he regarded as possibly incompatible with his official position, and denied accounts items other than those incurred in his official capacity.

Mr. Ekers traced his insurance experience from his service on a legislative committee which investigated insurance companies in 1906, through his service in the state insurance department to the establishment of private practice in Chicago in 1913. His firm, Ekers, Meyer and Janisch, he said, had acted as general counsel and managers for association of mutual insurance companies. In 1922, he testified, Harold E. Janisch left the firm to become manager of the National Mutual Alliance.

SUIT IN 1922

The firm handled no business in Wisconsin after Oct. 1, 1922, the attorney testified. They decided to cease their activities in this state when he was nominated in September, 1922, he said. Mr. Ekers told the committee that his work for the Beavers fraternal insurance society had been largely actuarial and that he had done little work for them during the last three or four years. No questions involving the Beavers had been submitted to him since he became attorney general he testified. His firm excluded Wisconsin from its legislative work after he assumed public office, Mr. Ekers said. The firm's connection with the mutual insurance organizations was ended last December, he continued, when it completed federal tax work.

Commissioner Smith never consulted him on the insurance bill, the attorney general declared. He explained that he had "a large hand" in the enactment of the present insurance laws. He did not appear on the pending bill in any matter except before the senate in committee of the whole, he said, and then he appeared as a private individual at the suggestion of Senator Sautheff, chairman of the investigation committee.

He told of his objections to the bill expressed before the senate that it changed the substantive law, which he thought should be done by separate bills; that the revisor of statutes should have made the revision; that the Modern Woodmen of America and a large number of other fraternal societies would have been barred from the state under the original draft, that sufficient time had not been taken in its preparation and that the senate did not have sufficient time to properly pass over it.

Washington Relaxes Under Strain Of Excessive Heat

PRESIDENT OFF FOR MINNESOTA

Coolidge Party Leaves to Attend Norse-American Centennial at St. Paul

Washington, D. C.—President Coolidge faced a busy morning disposing of a variety of details requiring his attention before his departure in mid-afternoon Saturday for Minnesota to deliver an address Monday at the Norse-American centennial. He expects to be back at his desk here Wednesday morning.

Accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge, Secretary and Mrs. Kellogg, whose home is in St. Paul, and Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin, the president will make the entire journey, his longest since entering the White House in a special section of a regular train.

Set aside for the use of the president's party were a compartment car, observation club and dining cars and another compartment car for a dozen newspaper men.

The schedule calls for a 30 hour run to St. Paul. On arrival there shortly after 8 o'clock Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge will go to the home of Secretary and Mrs. Kellogg, whose guests they will be until leaving St. Paul shortly before Monday midnight for home.

SAYS WORRY OVER WIFE HELPED GIBBONS LOSE

St. Paul, Minn.—Mrs. Tom Gibbons whose husband was knocked out in the twelfth round by Gene Tunney in New York Friday night, who is ill in a hospital here Saturday insisted on knowing the outcome of the fight, but attending physicians feared it would further endanger her condition to tell her the truth, and she was told the contest ended in a draw. She received the information calmly.

Mike Gibbons, once famous as the "champion" of the ring and brother of Tommy, insisted Saturday that the mental worry induced by Mrs. Gibbons condition had contributed largely to Tom's defeat.

Mike will urge Tom to continue in the ring and strive for a return engagement with Tunney.

FIRE DAMAGES DELAIR BUILDING IN GREEN BAY

Green Bay—Fire shortly before noon Saturday damaged the Delair building here in which the nationally known restaurant by the same name is located, to the extent of $8,000. Spontaneous combustion starting in a bundle of waste was probably the cause, it was said. The second floor of the building, which was used for storage was gutted entirely.

RODIN, MEMBER OF BADGER CREW, DIES

Duluth, Minn.—Alfred W. Rodin, 21, premier sculler of the Duluth boat club and a member of the university of Wisconsin crew, died Saturday morning at Madison, his father announced here Saturday afternoon.

NEW YORK PARTY TO SCOUT GREENLAND IN HUNT FOR FLIERS

Cape, Norway—Captain Amundsen's auxiliary committee in New York is to be asked to take charge, in cooperation with Donald B. MacMillan's all-American expedition, of the work of reconnoitering west Greenland for traces of the members of the Amundsen's polar flying party.

This decision was reached at a meeting here of air chiefs and Arctic experts.

The French explorer, Dr. Jean Charcot, will be asked to search the territory around east Greenland while the Norwegian expedition about the steamer Ingerette will patrol around Spitzbergen, Amundsen's starting point.

The latest weather reports say Spitzbergen is enveloped in fog.

Washington, D. C.—President Coolidge can't get away to Swampscott too soon to please the White House personnel and doubtless himself too for this is one of the worst hot spells the national capitol has experienced in many years.

The soaring temperatures have been a hardship not only for the thousands of government workers in the stone and brick structures but the numerous employees in the frame buildings erected during the war have suffered extraordinary inconvenience. These buildings have only the thinnest roofs and the heat of the sun penetrates them easily. In some instances in the last few days the clerks have been permitted to go home earlier than usual as it was impossible to do much work during the sizzling weather.

There are several "temporary" buildings and they are greatly crowded. It had been supposed that after the war they would be torn down and the regular building program continued but the era of economy which has struck official Washington interfered with the plan. President Coolidge did recommend an appropriation of $50,000,000 to be spread over several years in order to get some new buildings, but congress shelved his plea because it was impossible to secure an agreement among the various members on the construction of federal buildings in other parts of the country where the federal government employees need more space.

While Washington has a reputation of being hot most of the summer, the truth is a spell of high temperatures in June is about the worst the national capitol usually gets and it is not unusual to find almost all of July and August sultry and comfortable. The consoling feeling which the natives here have who defend Washington weather is that nowhere else in the east is it much below the Washington temperature.

While the fathers of our country have been criticized for selecting as hot a place as Washington for a capital, the fact is efficiency is not interfered with by the heat as much as is commonly supposed. Except for about two weeks of real hot weather, the government employees do not find it unbearable. Their hours are from 9 o'clock in the morning to 4:30 in the afternoon with a half hour for lunch. On days like these, however, they might just as well work half time for the weather prevents concentration. The chiefs of bureaus, however, are not inclined to drive the natives here who defend Washington is relaxing under the strain. So if the rest of the country doesn't get quick action from the national capitol these days, the heat may be blamed.

FRY EGGS ON STREET IF YOU CAN EAT 'EM

Washington—The famous experiment of frying an egg on the asphalt of the street was successfully carried out here Friday in nine minutes at the corner of Fourteenth and Pennsylvania-ave.

The egg was broken and carefully placed on the roadway at 12:42 p. m. and the process of frying was checked with a stop watch. At 12:44 the edges of the egg began to sizzle, at 12:46 the yolk began to cook and at 12:51 p. m. just nine minutes after the experiment started, the egg was fried to a turn.

No one volunteered to eat it.

FIND MAN HANGING IN SCHOOLHOUSE WOODSHED

Greene Falls — County officials lowered the body of an unknown man in a grave on the petter's field here Saturday. The torso was found hanging Friday in the school house woodshed at Morgan, Ontario co. by Miss Gladys Calba, a teacher. The only mark of identification was an express receipt made out in the name of Albert Wise, for a shipment from Waterloo to Green Bay. The man was said to be about 40 years old. He had dark hair and a mustache.

EXPECT TO COMPLETE SHEPHERD JURY TODAY

Chicago—Just as spectators at the trial of William D. Shepherd were looking for completion of the jury which to hear the evidence regarding the death by typhoid of "Billy" McCintock, state shattered the final panel by using preemptory challenges. The state now has only five preemptory challenges left and this fact, with the trend of the questioning Saturday indicated that the final selection will be made unless they are thoroughly satisfactory to the defense.

MAY DIE

Richard Loeb, (above) who with Nathan Leopold is serving a life sentence in the Illinois penitentiary at Joliet, for the murder of Bobby Franks, is critically ill.

RICHARD LOEB, FRANKS SLAYER SERIOUSLY ILL

Doctors Say Life Term Convict May Die Soon or Become Permanently Insane

Joliet, Ill.—Richard Loeb, the "master mind" who plotted with Nathan Leopold the murder of "Bobby" Franks last year, has suffered a mental breakdown and is in a state that, according to his doctors, will improve or terminate fatally within 48 hours.

"Dickie" suffering from an acute attack of measles that weakened him mentally and physically, has tossed for two days and nights on his cot in the old prison hospital here. Since Tuesday, when he became violent and hurled objects at his guards, he has hated and sobbed.

"Buddy! I want Buddy!" He cried repeatedly, also calling for his mother. "Buddy" was taken to mean "Patches" Reinhart, Leopold and Loeb's girl companion, in the days before they killed young Frank and were sentenced for life.

If Loeb does not recover from the measles attack he may face a life of insanity, it was indicated by Dr. Herman Adler, state criminologist, who reported the youth is in a post-infectious "delirium." Leopold does not know of his accomplice's collapse.

WALSH TALK AT MADISON TO BE ON WORLD COURT

Madison — The Wisconsin senate will be in Madison when United States Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana comes to address the legislature next week, although most of the assemblymen have gone home for the week. A large attendance is expected, however, some of the members planning to hear Senator Walsh on the date which he fixes for his appearance here. He will talk on "The Permanent Court of International Justice."

Giant Blimp To Pass Over Oshkosh At 3 A. M. Monday

BULLETIN

The giant dirigible Los Angeles will sail over Oshkosh about 3 o'clock Monday morning if it adheres to the schedule announced late on Saturday. The original plan was to reach Oshkosh at 7 o'clock Sunday night but the departure from Lakehurst was delayed.

Lakehurst N. J.—Departure of the naval dirigible Los Angeles on her flight to Minnesota to participate in the Norse-American centennial has been postponed until 1 a. m. (daylight) saving time Monday.

The delay was necessitated by the expansion of helium gas while the ship lay Saturday at her moorings.

A revised schedule for the outward bound trip was announced showing that Pittsburgh would be eliminated

SLAYS BANKER WHEN SPURNED IN BLACKMAIL

Murderer Says He Was Illegitimate Son of Victim's Dead Brother

New York—Shot by an extortioner whom he at least defied after giving him huge sums of money, Thomas Lonsdale Leeming, manufacturer, banker and civic leader in Brooklyn, is dead. Charles Muller, who served a term in Sing Sing prison for robbery, is in jail and the police are investigating contradictory reasons he gave for the murder.

Leeming was shot in the crowded lobby of a Williams-st building in the financial district, in which he maintained offices. Waiting when Leeming entered, Muller fired without taking the gun from his coat pocket.

Leeming lived long enough to point a trembling finger at his assailant and say:

"That man is an ex-convict. I befriended him and he shot me." "I'm sorry my gun jammed," replied Muller. "Or I'd have given you the rest of it."

Muller has signed two different confessions. In the first he said he was the illegitimate son of Leeming's brother, an architect and war veteran, who died in 1918. He shot Leeming, he said, because the manufacturer refused to pay $15,000 bequeathed to Muller by the brother. The second time Muller described himself as a "blackmailer" preying upon a weakness. He said he had obtained $8,000, but had been refused more.

SAW MILL TOWN NEAR MENOMINEE IS BURNED

Menominee, Mich.—All the principal buildings in the saw mill town of Cedar River, 25 miles northwest of here, were destroyed by fire which began in an abandoned mill at 3 o'clock Saturday morning, entailing a loss of over $100,000.

A high west wind swept the flames through the town, and before fire apparatus arrived from here and surrounding villages, eight buildings were ablaze. All of the 75 inhabitants of the town escaped without injury and when it was seen that the village could not be saved they fled with some of their belongings to the outskirts.

The buildings destroyed were the postoffice and all records, Macabee hall, a blacksmith shop, the Daniel Crawford general store, the Crawford sawmill, a large warehouse and 15 dwellings. How the fire originated has not been determined.

RICH INDIAN PRINCE CREMATED IN PARIS

Paris.—The Maharajah of Gwalior, one of India's richest and the most powerful princes, died suddenly here Friday. He was cremated in modern style Saturday, wearing his royal robes and with all his jewels, after efforts had failed to have his body burned on a great open air funeral pyre in Paris, in accordance with his religious rites.

Blaine Refuses To Support National Defense Day Plan

By Associated Press
Madison—Wisconsin will not take part in the observance of Defense day on July 4, Governor John J. Blaine announced Saturday. He announced that "there have been no events actual or probable, that justify any other course than that taken by the state last year" and that the adjutant general will advise the war department accordingly.

It has been announced at Washington that participation of the states in the Defense Day plans would be voluntary.

The following statement was issued at the executive office:

"On June 25, 1924, Governor Blaine directed Adjutant General Immelt to communicate to the war department in connection with its plans for the defense test to be held on Sept. 12, 1924, and on July 1, Adjutant General Immelt issued the following order:

"It is the opinion of the governor that at a time when all people of the civilized nations of the world are demanding a reduction on armaments both on land and on sea, it is inadvisable for the American government through propaganda and demonstration, to stimulate a national military movement. While it is true that the sole purpose of the demonstration is to acquire the American people with a new national defense plan, yet it would be interpreted by foreign powers as the American 'layman' interest, like demonstrations held in those lands. Considering the participation of America in the last great war, the hopes, the ideals and the failure of America to achieve its purpose of universal peace, it would be well worth while for America to hold a demonstration on Sept. 12, 1924 that would lead the way for foreign nations to universal peace."

It is the opinion of the governor that a patriotic demonstration in Wisconsin is unnecessary. Wisconsin, the state that sent 94,000 men to the Civil war, 5,489 to the Spanish-American war and 124,814 to the World war, needs no patriotic lesson. Wisconsin's military history recalls the major components of the Iron Brigade and the minor components of the 32nd division. It recalls the fact that in no war during the history has Wisconsin failed to answer the call for national defense or known within its own boundaries industrial or military disorders, and the fact that on July 15, 1918 when the American army stemmed the tide in the second battle of the Marne, one out of every fifteen soldiers wearing the American uniform in France came from Wisconsin.

"For the reason indicated in the preceding paragraph, the governor feels that a test mobilization is inadvisable."

"The Wisconsin National guard will see part on the call of the president of the United States, issued for national constitutional authority in a national emergency."

"The governor announces that there have been no events actual or probable that justify any other course than that taken by the state last year, and has so ordered."

"The adjutant general will advise the war department accordingly."

RACINE H. S. WINS 3RD STRAIGHT GOLF TITLE

Racine—Wisconsin high school golf honors will be retained by the Racine high school for another year, the local team having come from behind on the last 15 holes to win the third annual tournament on the Washington park course Saturday. This is the third consecutive season coach W. A. Cox has led his boys to a victory.

With an entirely new team, his veterans having all graduated last February, Mr. Cox captured the state trophy with 471 points. Lake Geneva was second with 499 points; Harvard third, with 509 and South Milwaukee fourth with 511.

The competition was usually keen this year as several of the sixteen schools entered had veteran players on their teams.

ASK AMERICANS TO QUIT CHINESE FIGHT CENTER

Washington, D. C.—A battle between General Hsu's Cantonese army, now reported to be within 40 miles of Canton, and Yunnanese forces entrenched in the eastern suburbs of Canton is expected within 36 hours.

Americans have been directed, by orders of Ferdinand L. Mayer, in charge of the Peking legation, to leave the Canton suburbs where fighting is likely to occur and many women and children already have removed themselves to safer points.

GERMAN SCORES ARMAMENT NOTE

Banker Says Allies Will Hasten Breaking Point of Germany's Stability

By Associated Press
Berlin — President Schacht of the Reichsbank commenting upon the allied disarmament notes Saturday said: "Our nerves have just about reached the cracking point, and until the allied and associated powers listen to reason and abandon their policy of political heckling, the German boiler may blow up. The nation which fails to understand the economic needs of Germany is politically and economically immature."

He cited the present condition of the German economy as indicating the difficulties of the German economic situation which he asserted, is 10 times more complicated than that of any other country. "Germany will still be a great economic and producing power," he said, "but our organization cannot function if it is constantly exposed to political pressure."

Schacht added that he believed the "only danger" threatening the peace was politics and that the peace plan might in the end fail.

PARLEY AGREES ON WHAT ARMS REQUIRE PUBLICITY

Geneva—The international conference for the limitation of traffic in arms Saturday agreed on what military supplies should be subject to full publicity under the proposed convention and approved ten articles of the document.

The giant dirigible Los Angeles, which is to sail from Lakehurst, N. J., to Minneapolis, will pass over Appleton about 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, according to a revised schedule announced late Saturday. The blimp was to leave Lakehurst at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon and it was believed that 27 hours would be required.

WEEKS RECOVERS SLOWLY FROM RECENT OPERATION

Boston—John W. Weeks, secretary of war, "is progressing satisfactorily," according to a bulletin issued Saturday at the Massachusetts General hospital where he has been since an operation for gall stones last week.

"He had a comfortable night with much sleep," it was added.

FREEZE IN MONTANA AS EAST IS SWELTERING

Denver, Colo.—Snow, rain and low temperatures even down to the freezing point Saturday were reported from many sections of the Rocky Mountain regions while the east and middle west continue to swelter under oppressive heat. The thermometer registered 32 at Butte, Mont., Friday night.

GENEVA ARMS PARLEY ENDORSES SCHEME TO OUTLAW POISON GAS

Washington—President Coolidge is willing to call a conference of nations in an effort to outlaw gas as a weapon of warfare if the Geneva arms traffic conference fails to agree on the subject, but overnight dispatches indicated that the Washington gathering would be unnecessary.

After hearing eloquent addresses by Representative Theodore E. Burton, head of the American delegation, and Paul Boncour of France, the Geneva conference Friday night voted to frame a protocol banning asphyxiating gas in war. The protocol would be submitted to all nations for signature.

The conference's action followed a committee report holding that outlawing of gas was practically impossible. Only the announcement that Representative Burton had been authorized to present President Coolidge's offer was forthcoming here where officials awaited formal reports on Mr. Burton's statement in Geneva.

98 MORE DEAD FRIDAY FROM TORRID WAVE

Marquette, Mich., at 102, Was Hottest City in Middle West States

3 DIE IN WISCONSIN

At Least Two More Hot Days Are in Prospect With Possible Storms

By Associated Press
Chicago—Saturday marked the beginning of the second week of middle west's heat wave, which has caused more than 100 deaths from Nebraska to Ohio since this area began to swell on Memorial day. At least two more days of torrid weather were in prospect, with probably even higher temperatures in some places than have yet been recorded this year.

Possibly by Monday there will be a break in the heat wave, the weather bureau intimated, but the forecasters were not sure that even then the air blockade in the Atlantic which has caused the stagnant condition over the eastern and middlewestern states, would be pierced.

Marquette, Mich., with a temperature of 102 degrees was the hottest city in the central west Friday. Record temperatures of 101 were recorded in Ohio, while it was 100 in Paducah, Ky., and 100 at some Indiana points. Other high mercury marks were:

STORES PREVIEW

Chicago 96, Cleveland 93, Detroit 96, Milwaukee 94, Indianapolis 98, Minneapolis 92, St. Louis 94, Omaha 98, Louisville 92, Des Moines 89 and Kansas City 92. North Dakota and Minnesota have had Friday night's torrid winds and electrical storms such as have been frequent in the north central area this week.

The toll of the heat wave and its accompanying storms stood at 238 Saturday, 98 persons having died throughout the country Friday from causes traceable to the torrid weather.

The east suffered the greatest Friday in the matter of victims of the "air blockade," there being 69 east of Ohio and only 29 in the Buckeye state and westward. In addition there was one death from the heat at Montreal, Canada.

Friday's death list by principal cities and states follows: New York 15; Philadelphia 13, New Jersey 12, New England 9, upstate New York 6, Kentucky 6, Pittsburg 6, Michigan 6, Ohio 5, Baltimore 4, Boston 4, Chicago 4, Indiana 4, Wisconsin 4, Minnesota 2, St. Louis 1.

SEE BREAK WASHINGTON, D. C.—Scanning its report on atmospheric conditions from all sections, the weather bureau Saturday saw definite signs of a break in the heat wave, but not until next week.

Indications are that the relief will come to the north Atlantic states Monday and in the middle Atlantic States Monday or Tuesday.

In the Ohio valley and Tennessee it will come Monday, or Tuesday night of the Ohio river, and Tuesday or Wednesday further south. Monday or Monday night is expected to bring cooler weather in the region of the Great Lakes.

The upper Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys should benefit Monday or Tuesday.

CORONER DIES

Milwaukee—Bernard Litza, Milwaukee deputy coroner dropped dead at his home here Saturday. Litza weighed more than 300 pounds, and physicians said his death was due largely to the intense heat of the last few days.

Indications Saturday morning pointed to relief from the heat during the day, according to the local weather bureau. The promise came as the result of a probable switch of the wind to off the lake.

Friday hundreds of automobiles were parked along the lake shore in the vicinity of Bradford beach, where bathers took advantage of the cooling waters of Lake Michigan. Don area marked the lake shore due to a cool off-lake breeze, which made the vicinity of Bradford beach the most popular place in the city.

BOY DROWNS WITHOUT KNOWLEDGE OF MATES

Madison—Robert D. R. Berschens, 11, son of Matthew L. Berschens, was drowned in Lake Mendota Saturday when he was seized by heart cramps and sank unnoticed, while a group of his companions continued to play and swim within a dozen feet of the spot where his body lay on the lake bottom.

Appleton company gets paving contract

Garvey - Weyenberg Construction Co. of Appleton was awarded the contract for paving the main street of Black Creek Friday at a joint meeting of the board of trustees of the village and the county highway commissioner at the office of A. G. Brusewitz, county highway commissioner. The bid of the local firm was not low but several bids were thrown out on technicalities. The amount of the accepted bid was $29,432.25. Vibrolithic concrete will be used on the new pavement, according to a decision of the two committees.

Peepers annoy first warders

Police and Citizens Are Working to Effect Capture of Night Time Prowler

Appleton police department and residents of the First ward are working to capture a prowler who has been seen looking in windows at homes in the late hours of the evening. He appeared Friday night at the residence of Mrs. Anna Schottler, 620 E. Eldorado-st. and Thursday at the home of Dr. Henry T. Johnson, 827 E. College-ave. The police have a good description of the man and believe they have a clue to his identity.

The peeper was discovered by Miss Lydia Schottler gazing into a window of the kitchen, which was lighted. She demanded a reason for his presence and when he failed to move summoned neighbors and also telephoned the police. He visited the Schottler home about 10:15 and the Johnson home about midnight.

Policemen hastened to each home when summoned and made a search of the neighborhood but he had disappeared. The department asks that the police be summoned quietly in case he is seen anywhere so his capture can be effected.

Young nearly drowns in milk

9-year-old Lad Rescues Older Brother After He Falls into Big Vat

Godron Rohm, 9-year-old son of Robert W. Rohm, Rural Route 4, established a claim to a hero medal Friday when he rescued his brother Ralph, 11, from drowning in a large vat of milk. Ralph was emptying a can into the vat which already was nearly full, when the can pulled him in.

Hearing the splash and the clatter of the can, Godron ran to the vat where he saw his brother struggling to get his head above the milk. Leaping over the edge of the vat the

PAVE ROUGH SPOT IN S. ONEIDA-ST

Street Department to Lay
Brick Pavement Between
Fox River Papermills

Drivers from the north side of the city who are bound for the south side of the river will find Oneida-st. barred beginning early Monday morning when Robert F. Hackworthy, recently appointed assistant street commissioner, will start a crew of men on paving operations on the street between the Fox River Paper Co. mills.

The city council recently authorized the street department to lay a brick pavement there, instead of continuing to patch the bad spots with cinders.

Three detours will be open to motorists Monday. They have their choice between the John-st. Lave-st. and the new Cherry-st. bridges. Mr. Hackworthy announces that no one will be allowed to pass over the Oneida-st. bridge after the work has been started until it has been completed.

The work may require more than two weeks for completion because it is possible, that weak spots may be found in the bridge after the present pavement is removed, although Mr. Hackworthy plans to rush it through as quickly as possible.

Frank Wolf, Clarkson, Wash., who is visiting friends and relatives here, left Friday for Wittenberg where he will spend several days.

MAIL CARRIER'S SON TO BE HIS SUBSTITUTE

Wade Letts is preparing to act as substitute carrier for his father, Frank Letts on Rural Route 4, in place of his uncle, Edward F. Letts, who had been taking his brother's place on the route for 22 years while Frank took his annual vacation of two weeks. Edward F. Letts was the oldest substitute rural carrier in point of service in the history of the post office here. He was forced to resign in order to keep up with the work on his farm, and made place for his nephew, thus keeping the route in the family.

COUNTY GIVES ITS APPROVAL TO PAVING PLAN

Highway Committee Favors Vibrolithic but Is Satisfied With Reinforced Concrete

Action of the city council in voting to have Cherry and Richmond streets paved with reinforced concrete was approved by the highway committee of the county board at a meeting of the committee and the board of public works in the court house Friday afternoon. William Rohan, chairman of the committee, had objected to the publication in the Post-Crescent of an article stating that the highway committee was seeking to force vibrolithic pavement on the city for the two streets in question. He stated that it was the opinion of the committee that this type of pavement was the best available by far, but denied that two members of the committee had been influenced by the vibrolithic people, as he said the Post-Crescent had implied.

Michael Mack, chairman of the county board, who also attended the meeting, urged the highway and the board of public works to cooperate, as they both are working for the same ends. The members of the committee, while they all announced their preference for vibrolithic over all other pavements, declared themselves willing to approve of the decision of the city council when they learned that to change it would mean a delay of at least six weeks, and voted unanimously to accept the vote of the common council.

Mr. Rohan objected heatedly to attempts of committees of taxpayers on Cherry and Richmond streets to secure more county aid. He said that these petitioners should consider that highway pavements are not a luxury, but a necessity in the vicinity of Appleton had been paved for the benefit of this city, with the help of the county. In view of that fact, he stated, Appleton had been given a fair share of county aid and could expect no more.

Mayor John Goodland, Jr., and the other members of the board of public works agreed with Mr. Rohan that the $20,000 appropriated by the county highway committee for constructing pavements on Cherry and Richmond streets was as much as might be expected under the circumstances, and asserted that such had always been their opinion.

The meeting ended after mutual assurance of further cooperation between county and city authorities had been given, and the payment of Cherry and Richmond streets with reinforced concrete is assured.

Members of the committee and of the county board complimented the city of Appleton on the specifications for the pavement of the two streets in question, stating that never before had they seen plans for stronger concrete pavement.

SCOUTS BUILD TRAIL AT CAMPSITE ON LAKE

Scouts from several Appleton troops have been assisting in building an attractive trail down the hillside at the new campsite of Valley council, Boy Scouts of America, at Lake Winnebago. Troops 4, 5 and 6 were among those which were helping P. O. Kelcher, scout executive. Lumber has been hauled to the campsite to be used in making the trail. A stairway also will be built, leading from the cliffs to the swimming beach at the lake.

BAPTISTS HOLD STATE MEETING EARLY IN WEEK

Rev. and Mrs. E. M. Salter Will Represent Appleton Church at Convention

The Rev. and Mrs. E. M. Salter of First Baptist church will leave Monday for Madison where they will attend the annual Wisconsin Baptist State convention to be held from June 8 to 11.

Addresses by several ministers from Wisconsin cities will be given during the convention including an address Thursday evening by Dr. E. Y. Mulhens, president of the Louisville Theological seminary with an address by Rev. Ralph A. Jensen, Chicago. A business meeting will be held Tuesday morning followed by the annual sermon by Rev. W. L. Harms, Oconomowoc, and an address by the Rev. W. S. Ryder of Oshkosh.

On Thursday evening the annual report will be given by the Rev. E. C. Browns of Milwaukee, and will be followed by an address by Dr. Edward Rafferty of Chicago.

The women's and laymen's banquets will be held Wednesday evening and addresses will be given by Mrs. H. F. Goodman of Chicago and Dr. E. A. Birge, retiring president of the University of Wisconsin.

The annual election of officers and committee reports will be held Thursday morning and in the afternoon a meeting of the board of managers will be held, followed by an organization meeting of all departments and committees.

SPEED WAGON IS AID TO CONTROL OF DISTRIBUTION

Reo Representative Tells of Necessity for Expert Merchandizing

"Merchants and business men generally are becoming more and more impressed with the fact that one of the most vital elements in merchandizing success is control of distribution," says Mr. Schneider, of The Appleton Auto Co., sales representative for Reo in this city.

"They recognize that, in addition to having a well-made and well-known product, they must have the means of getting it to the points where demand exists before substitutes are thrown on the market and competitors reap the harvest.

"To innumerable concerns faced with this transportation problem the Speed Wagon has been a genuine benefactor. Any number of examples of this phase of the service rendered by the Speed Wagon can be cited.

"For instance, a large daily paper in one of the largest cities in the world publishes several editions each day, each succeeding edition coming from the press within an almost incredibly short space of time after the first one. Most of the day's production and distribution of newspaper occurs within four or five hours, and the major portion of the circulation covers an area with a radius of twenty-five miles from the newspaper office.

"It is notable that the progressive and successful merchandisers are those who have gained control of their distribution in some such manner as these described."

SALES MANAGER OF CHEVROLET SEES DEALERS

High automotive production will continue well through the second half of 1925, it is expected by R. H. Grant, sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor company, who has spent three months of the current year visiting in direct contact with Chevrolet dealers. His travels have taken him to most of the large cities and more than half the states.

"Demand for cars, which even before this time last year was beginning to slacken, still remains strong," said Mr. Grant. The sales peaks and depressions of former years are beginning to flatten out. The automobile has become a year-round product, particularly since the closed car grew to such favor. Seasonable variations demand are becoming less marked.

"No one section predominates as a present or prospective market for automobiles. Sales throughout the entire country reveal a gratifying steadiness and uniformity of demand. And improvement of the agricultural situation, particularly in the southwest where the drought has broken, indicates that thousands of farmer-purchasers will help sustain the demand during the latter part of the year.

"It is not improbable that demand will increase slightly in the near future and then remain unchanged for some time, still at a comparatively high level. This possibility, however, will have slight effect upon production, especially among the large companies.

"The race of the Chevrolet unfilled order list against recent record production strides augurs well for future sales. Chevrolet went into May with 35,652 unfilled orders. In spite of a large production schedule the amount of reserve orders was diminished but slightly, due to the number of new orders received."

SEEK MEANS TO END CAR THEFTS

"American inventive genius can surely find some way to cut down the number of stolen automobiles," said Walter P. Chrysler, President and Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Maxwell and Chrysler Motor Corporations, recently. "The activities of automobile thieves were nearly 50 per cent greater in 1924 than they were in 1923 and more than 100 per cent greater than they were in 1922."

"In 25 cities there were stolen in 1924, 57,771 motor vehicles. Of this number 47,484 were recovered. Seventeen per cent of the total number stolen were not recovered.

"There should be a way to mark a car in such a manner that it can be identified easily. That mark should be counterfeited proof if incentive can be made of it. It should be so placed on the car that it cannot be removed.

"The theft of automobiles is a crime vast in its proportions. The number of cars stolen increases from year to year. Now there probably will be no way to check the theft of cars entirely but surely there is some way to cut down the number of cars stolen. The cars stolen last year were valued between $100,000,000 and $125,000,000. That sum must be cut down.

CHEMISTRY OF BATTERIES IS MADE SIMPLE

Chemical Reactions in Storage Cells Said to Be Reversible

The chemical changes which take place in your storage battery are said to be "reversible." That is to the acid in the battery solution acts upon the active materials in the plates and electrical current is generated during the process. When electricity is passed into the battery, the changes are reversed and the acid in the plates is liberated and returned to the solution while the plates returned to their original composition.

While the battery is discharging, the active material of the positive plate which was originally lead peroxide, becomes lead sulphate through combination with some of the acid in the battery solution. The material of the negative plate that was spongy lead, becomes lead sulphate in the same way. The solution becomes weaker in acid by this process as is shown by the lowered density when tested with a battery hydrometer.

Lead sulphate on the plates has a greater volume than the lead peroxide or spongy lead formerly there, and form a layer of inert material over the remaining active material. Thus the weakening battery solution cannot penetrate the sulphate to reach more unchanged active material and the battery becomes less active and its voltage lower.

In recharging a battery, direct current must be passed through the cells in a direction opposite to that of discharge. During this period, the lead sulphate on the positive plate is converted into spongy lead. The electrolyte gradually increases in density and at the end of the charge will be of the same strength as before the discharge.

The Willard Storage Battery Company of Cleveland, together with most other nationally known storage battery manufacturers have always urged that no other substances of any kind be placed in a lead sulphuric acid battery. The proper material to be placed in these batteries is authorized service stations. None of these chemicals are lost through use or evaporation and nothing but distilled water should be added by their users.

FORD PAYS MEN GREAT FORTUNE

More Than Quarter Billion Shown on Payrolls During 1924

Detroit, Mich.—Employees in the Ford organization were paid more than a quarter of a billion dollars in wages and salaries during 1924, according to payroll totals made public here today at the offices of the Ford Motor Company.

The largest payrolls were at the Highland Park and River Rouge plants of the company here, the total for these two plants alone reaching the enormous figures of $172,810,145.66 for the last year.

At other plants and at branches throughout the country the company during the last year paid employees a total of $2,532,476.53. The figures include wages and salaries paid at the Lincoln Motor Company, a division of the Ford Motor Company, the C. E. Johnson Co., Inc., and the Fordson Motor Company, which totaled $5,648,306.18, bringing the grand total for the organization up to $254,001,528.37.

OLDS SEDAN IS USED AS OFFICE

Businessman Visits 32 States Since Sept. 1, 1925 in Automobile

For the past nine months an Oldsmobile Six sedan has been the business office and only means of transportation of C. G. Gale, of the Motor Wheel Corporation, and during that period Mr. Gale has traveled over the greater portions of the United States, Canada and Mexico. In fact he is one of the record automobile travelers of the world.

Since September 1, 1924 when Mr. Gale started from Lansing, Michigan, he has visited 32 states in this country as well as the populated sections of Canada and Mexico, rolling up a mileage in excess of 25,000.

Mr. Gale is engaged in installing service stations and distributing centers for Motor Wheel Corporation, makers of Tuare steel wheels used on Oldsmobile sport cars. His work has taken him over every type road and through all conceivable weather conditions. During this time he has carried 1,250 pounds of baggage and for the entire trip has traveled about 15 miles to the gallon of gasoline. This constant driving at the rate

BUICK EXPORT INCREASES TO 2,251 IN MONTH

Shipments of American Cars to Foreign Countries Is Growing

"Few people realize to what extent the exportation of American made automobiles has developed," says H. H. Bassett, President and General Manager of the Buick Motor Company. "Ten years ago there were only 1800 Buick cars exported during the entire year. While this was quite a remarkable business for that time it is an insignificant figure compared with 2251 Buicks exported during the month of April, 1925, and even this figure will be eclipsed during the month of May."

"For the period from August 1st, 1924 to the end of April, 1925, the number of Buicks exported amounted to about 20,000, which is quite a substantial business and indicates very clearly that American made cars are looked upon with favor by the inhabitants of many foreign countries.

"The import tax on cars going into France is very heavy, but in spite of this heavy tax we are doing a very good business in that country. In South America there are no roads to speak of, especially on the west coast, but American cars are being purchased there in increasing numbers.

"In most foreign countries only right hand drive cars are sold, but in Egypt and Spain both right and left hand drive cars are purchased. In the latter country you take your choice, which is a rather confusing rule.

"It is not expected that the increase in exports from the United States to England will have much effect on shipments into that country because cars made there are either of the very small type or the large, expensive type, with the result that there are no cars made there of the medium price class that will compete with Buick."

"While very little business has been done for some time in Russia, it is expected that the sale of American made cars will gradually increase from there. Sport models are very popular in all foreign countries as well as open models, but there is a rapidly increasing demand for closed cars everywhere.

GRAHAM FIRM CUTS PRICES

Local Dealer Announces Reduction on All Truck Chassis

The 1 ton Graham Brothers chassis, which formerly sold at $1175, f. o. b. Detroit, has been reduced to $1095 and the 1½ ton chassis, which was $1375, is cut to $1250, f. o. b. Detroit. Other chassis prices are reduced proportionately.

"In view of the recent announcement that the Graham Brothers will ship a quarter of 1925, built more 1½ ton trucks than any other manufacturer in the world, and were second in the 1 ton and 1½ ton truck fields combined," said the dealer. "The reduction is readily explained. It has always been Graham Brothers' policy to pass along to the consumer immediately any savings effected through increased production and other factory economies. Only last September they made a sharp price cut in their 1 ton chassis. In the face of this previous reduction the present additional cut of $80 is almost unbelievable."

"Graham Brothers have advanced astonishingly in the last three years. After hearing the comments of the Graham Brothers Truck owners we have said, 'I can understand why. There is no limit to their enthusiasm and admiration. The truck is exceedingly attractive in the first place, and in addition is exceptionally rugged and powerful. There seems to be no road, no hauling condition, that it can not master. Moreover, the initial cost is extremely low and it serves the owner faithfully over a much longer period than one usually expects a truck to function.'"

"Graham Brothers also have another important advantage which had a tremendous influence on their quick ascendancy to leadership. This is the fact that they market their products all over the world. They are thus provided with an organization from forces and more capable than the average truck manufacturer can hope to establish. All Dodge Brothers Dealers also have highly competent and well stocked service departments—and service is of vital importance to truck owners."

"These facts have found recognition among buyers of commercial transportation everywhere. They are responsible for the Graham Brothers present large production and for the substantial cut in prices."

BOSCH BUILDS NEW IGNITION FOR FORD CARS

Spark Advance in Improved System Said to Be Fully Automatic

The Bosch Ignition System for Fords, known as "Type 600" has been entirely redesigned, and many improvements incorporated. The system, as now offered to the trade, has so many changes that it virtually constitutes an entirely new system.

The spark advance in the new Bosch-Ford Ignition System is fully automatic, being controlled by an ingenious new governor, designed and built especially to suit the Ford engine characteristics. When the new Type 600 is installed on a Ford engine, the Ford spark lever is disconnected altogether, because it is not used at any time—even when starting.

The new system for timing at the head—an improvement which greatly simplifies and expedites the installation, and makes it possible to time the system quickly while the engine is running.

The housing, which encloses the interrupter mechanism and governor weights, is built separately from the bracket housing, and is provided with a timing clamp and screw. It has a long bearing which fits tightly over the neck of the bracket housing, but which may be rotated on it when the timing clamp is loosened.

To time the system, it is only necessary to grasp the head of the unit (which contains the interrupter mechanism) and rotate it against the cam. When it is rotated to the point which gives the smoothest firing of the engine, you tighten the screw in the clamp, and the timing is completed. No amount of vibration can develop looseness of the head, or throw the unit out of timing.

Another feature of the improved Bosch system is a small key on the distributor cap, and a keyway on the interrupter housing. These insure correct location of the rotor is insured by a flat on the top of the governor shaft, and a corresponding flat sided hole in the shank of the rotor. A tight fit of the rotor is assured by a spring slot in the top of the governor shaft.

Good ground between the interrupter cup and its housing is assured by two springs on the side of the cup. This insures a tight fit at all times. The interrupter mechanism used with this system is exactly the same as that supplied with the standard Bosch Systems when supplied to the leading car manufacturers. The same is true of the distributor cap, which has unusually high towers to prevent current leakage.

Even the appearance of the system has been changed. The head of the new Type 600 being finished in a bright red, while the rest of the unit has a black satin finish. This makes the whole system unusually attractive, and it is especially helpful in making display in show windows, show cases, and on the dealer's counter.

Three modifications of the new system are available, each having a separate type designation. Type 600-D is used with one Ford coil, with the vibrator screwed down. This system uses the battery as a source of ignition current.

MOON SALESMAN USES AIRPLANE TO BUILD TIRE OF STABLE FORM

Spokane Dealer Speeds Up Sales by Traveling Through Air

Fred Rice, Moon distributor and owner of two automobile agencies in Spokane, Washington, does not believe in waiting for a train when looking after his customers and the dealers in his territory. Instead he uses an airplane for quick action and quicker results.

To speed up business and visit dealers in the neighboring territory, Rice calls for his airplane and hops off at any time to see what's going on in his territory without waiting for a train.

Rice, it is said, is the first automobile distributor to use the airplane to sell the automobile, in fact he is looked upon as a pioneer in using this method of selling automobiles via airplane. This method of selling cars by airplane in this day of rapid transportation, of which the automobile itself is a chief factor, is significant of the trend today for even faster transportation, it is said.

According to Rice, who has recently been appointed a Moon distributor at Spokane, the Moon cars are going to be popular in his territory as much interest is being shown in the new models.

MASTERS WORK TO BUILD TIRE OF STABLE FORM

Engineers Would Have Tube Keep Shape While Standing Inactive

Master tire builders, engineers and chemists have been working for years to produce a tire which would have been the same shape when inactive as when under a load and running. To build such a balloon tire with a flat shape so designed and constructed that it would not be distorted, or squashed out of shape when running, was the objective. Experience pointed to this tire as the more nearly perfect one. And now it has been built. The air pressure is regulated to carry the load and at the same time keep the tire in its natural shape. This new tire, declare the Miller engineers, is toughest and strongest pneumatic tire that has ever left their factory.

The tire is so designed that when properly inflated and in action it will flex uniformly and there will be no uneven stress anywhere. This reduces the internal friction to the minimum and causes the tread to wear down evenly, thus utilizing every bit of rubber in it. By having a uniformity in its flexing, a reduction of internal friction and uniformity in interior, as well as exterior structure there must be symmetry in the wear.

Balloon tires must be flexible to get the advantage of the low air pressure but the internal heat caused by the friction of these flexings must be reduced to the minimum and this is accomplished by having the side walls so constructed that they work in unison, with an even distribution of weight and wear.

This application of a principle has been recognized by the engineers as the proper one for the tire of the future, is heralded as the greatest achievement in the pneumatic tire field. There being no tense, taut cords, no squashing, nor pinching, no concentrated strain and no unyielding stiffness in the tread the whole tire is uniformly flexible and actually floats over road obstructions. It therefore follows that the wear will be uniform throughout the whole tire, with no premature weakness developing and the tread, with or without load, conforming to the surface of the road.

NATIONAL DEFENSE AND POLITICS

A Madison dispatch says that while Governor Blaine is silent on the proposal of President Coolidge and the war department to observe July 4th as Defense Day, it was indicated at the executive office that the governor still was of the opinion "that a patriotic demonstration in Wisconsin is unnecessary."

This is the same governor who previously refused to join in a national demonstration of defense at the request of the president and his secretary of war. It is the same governor who refused to attend or send a representative to the inauguration of President Coolidge.

Is it Mr. Blaine's view that the proposal of the federal government is merely "a Republican party proposal?" Was it his idea in declining to have Wisconsin officially represented at the inaugural that Mr. Coolidge was the president of the Republican party and not of the United States? If Wisconsin refuses to permit Mr. Coolidge to enter Madison on his trip to St. Paul, will it be because he is a Republican or because he is the president of this nation? If the governor is correctly quoted in the opinion "that a patriotic demonstration in Wisconsin is unnecessary," is it because Wisconsin is a sovereignty unto itself and is not in his view a part of the United States and a factor in its national defense?

Twenty years ago nobody thought of the Fourth of July except as a day of "patriotic demonstration." Has that idea been extinguished in Wisconsin? Is it one of the tenets of super-progress? If so, would it not be consistent for the legislature to strike observance of the Fourth of July from the calendar?

INVESTIGATION AT MADISON

The investigation at Madison has already proceeded far enough to show that the demand for it was justified. Enough has been brought out of the strange ways in which officeholders have been moving and in which some of the activities of the legislature have been controlled, to interest the public in a full disclosure of the facts. Some queer testimony has been given, particularly by Mr. Clark, which, however we view it, seems to establish a scandal. There is an obvious purpose to protect the governor from these unsavory incidents, whatever may have been his relationship to them. Indirectly, at least, it would appear that the incidents testified to had a close connection with the administration, and that they were not merely the pranks of irresponsible individuals.

Other matters of a scandalous nature have been testified to which, while not proved as the accepted proof in a court, nevertheless raise a presumption of fact until controverted. It is hardly possible for men to concoct stories and charges of the nature being testified to at Madison out of whole cloth. It is possible for them to exaggerate the truth or to half state it, but not to indulge in pure fiction.

The Moran incident looks like a vicious scheme to violate the legislative freedom of the people's representatives. If we are to permit such breaches as that to go unnoticed or unrebuked, we might as well invite unscrupulous politicians to resort to any methods, even kidnapping and intimidation, to promote legislative conspiracies. They may lead anywhere, for the invalidation and corruption of government.

The extent to which the state payroll is being used for purely political purposes is also another matter of concern to the public. There is a charge, and there is evidence to support it, that some of the state's funds go to jobholders without duties and to grease the political machine. There is evidence of scandals at state institutions that are humiliating to the state. There is evidence touching other matters that demands thorough investigation and the cleaning up of doubt and suspicion.

To say that this investigation was needed in the interest of better government would be putting it mildly. We seem to need not only an investigation, but housecleaning. The only thing that can prevent it will be a suppression of facts that leads clearly established should bring to light, and we may depend upon it that all the power that can be brought to bear to whitewash scandals and minimize the abuse of public trust will be used.

COLLEGES AND SCHOLARSHIPS

What is the matter with American college education? Professor Richardson of Dartmouth was commissioned to find out, and after a year's survey reports that the chief need is to make scholarship respectable. The scholarship itself might doubtless be improved in curriculum and methods, but the main obstacle is student scorn of any sort of scholarship.

College opinion reflects the popular American contempt of the "highbrow." It may overlook lack of personality in the athlete, of scholarship in the social leader, or of intellect in the "good fellow," but not the lack of anything in the scholar.

In the college of liberal arts, whose ostensible purpose is education, the pursuit of that purpose is stigmatized by the longest list of epithets in the college vocabulary.

It is, of course, the business of colleges to solve this problem if they can. But the real responsibility is on the rest of us. Students are not a monastic caste, immured from the world.

If we do not respect the intellectual life, neither will they. If we measure values by money, so will they. If we suffer the numbers and jeers of the mediocre majority to impose compulsory conformity, and call it democracy, the student democracy will do the same thing.

We spend more money on colleges, and send more students to them, than any other people in the world. But the spirit of culture cannot be manufactured in them, if it is not living and honored outside. It is not from colleges that callow youth learned that bootlegging is smart, and learning contemptible.

THE VISA NUISANCE

That unhappy reminder of the war, the passport with its expensive visa, is now being officially attacked. Our own state department, none too soon, has taken the initiative by suggesting to European governments that the fee be wiped out by international agreement.

Ten years ago a comfortable return trip passage to Europe could be purchased for the amount that passport visas now cost Americans who tour the continent. With few exceptions the visa fee is now $10 for each country. In addition there are constant timetaking visits to consular offices and the severe inconveniences which the unlucky traveler meets when he fails to live up to the last letter of the regulations.

Of course Americans contribute most of the visa fees. Tourists and business men thereby support thousands of the employees of foreign governments and it is for this very reason that the nuisance has been maintained. But there is no doubt that if Uncle Sam seriously demands the abolition of the visa fee it will be abolished. The great tide of American dollars abroad is too precious a thing to be jeopardized.

HOME TOWNS

A couple of men got to chatting one day about the towns where they first saw the light of day. They both seemed to think that with luck they were blest, "cause the boys they were born in, by far were the best."

Said one to the other, "Why, listen here, man, just show me a town like my own, if you can. It's out in the open, and small, I'll agree, but it's got everything that's appealing to me."

His friend kinda smiled, as he answered, "That's fine, but you're right, that way 'cause you haven't seen mine. I say, ought to know what my home town is worth, I was born there, and bred. It's the best spot on earth."

Perhaps, after all, both the men were correct for their boasting and bragging is what you'd expect. As soon as from home they and towns we are torn we begin to be proud of the place we are born.

Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

IF I WERE KING
As almost everybody knows I am not a mere non de plume used by the "medical trust," but a free lance scribbler all on my own. I really exist. I blushing confess that I still stand fairly well with the, as those who deny my existence have to have it called, regular medical profession, and I blush still more to add that the reason for that is simply because I tell the laity the truth. Now and then, indeed, I seem to arouse no small degree of irritation or animosity on the part of the regular medical profession, but I feel sure that some of the headaches in it because I tell the laity too much truth about the sins of the doctors. But I don't care whether one or all of the regular docs like my style or not. If there is anything in my style they don't like, let 'em come out and say so and I'll explain to the dear laity just where the fault lies. Trouble is with the small fry in our noble profession, they are shrewd enough to know the wisdom of silence—indeed, the medical profession has been drawing dividends from the policy of silence for many centuries, though there is much evidence, I think, that this venerable policy no longer pays as it did in the days of yore. Anyhow, I unblushingly call attention to the fact that the doctors who dislike my style generally take it out in quiet or indirect slams at "newspaper science" or some microscopic allusion to the questionable "ethics" of a department like this. Any offense, but before they begin gathering evidence all such colleagues I challenge to point out my I would refer them to section 2 and 3 of chapter III of the principles of medicine.

If I were king—well, alas, I am only myself, more or less "well known," whether favorably or not, as old Doc Brady, not Old King Brady. Old King Brady had his good points, though I am no relation of his. But if I were king, I tell you, there are a lot of things we would do differently here in America, and particularly things that are done under the name of health education. I would start right in as soon as I felt the crown securely pulled down upon my ears doing away with errors and abuses which we all know under our present system of government, or anybody has the necessary courage or steam to attack. Along with my crown I should expect, of course, to be presented with a good hefty mace, staff or big stick, one warranted to stand hard usage, together with adequate space immediately adjacent to the throne and well within the fierce light, of course, where I might get a good lusty swing. Given such power and opportunity, I believe I could swing the mace effectively and I know some of my medical, sanitary or health colleagues would have sorer heads than they have now.

This cleaning of the Augean stable would necessarily be radical and revolutionary and somewhat destructive, yet I think an essential preliminary for the constructive plan of my reign. No doubt King Auges and all his official staff considered the proposal to clean the stable both radical and revolutionary and frowned upon the idea as destructive criticism, but Hercules turned on his rivers in spite of that. My first royal edict would be a general proclamation of amnesty for the antiquitarians. I should say: "We deem vaccination a good thing. Here it is, free of charge. If you want it come and get it. If you don't want it and good. We are going to allow smallpox patients unrestricted liberty hereafter and we grant to every subject full personal liberty to decide whether he shall catch it."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Fruits of Fishology.
Is evaporated milk poisonous in tea or coffee? I have been told that it is poisonous in tea, but not in coffee. (W. M. L.)

Answer.—Ben Told probably acquired that misinformation in a mail order "course" in "scientific eating" which he purchased from one of those "food specialists" who seem to divine such notions from their inner consciousness. Evaporated milk is wholesome enough in tea or in coffee.

CEMENT PLANT MAY RUIN CAVE OF MARK TWAIN

Demand for Limestone May Obliterate Area Now Precious in Mind of Readers

Washington, D. C.—Near the banks of the Mississippi river just two miles south of Hannibal, Missouri, a near-tragedy is being enacted. The Mark Twain cave, famous wherever Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn are known, seems doomed to destruction. The cave is of limestone formation. It is said by geologists to belong to a series of caves which run across Missouri, cross the river near Hannibal and proceed in a southerly direction through the famous Kentucky cave region to the Gulf.

These underground passages are thought to be the course of an underground river which flowed through them in distant geological ages. Whether the river was as long as the chain is not known, but all the caverns were formed by water. The theory has it that the river did flow through them all and that once they were connected, forming an immense subterranean labyrinth. This is merely theory, however, and at the present time there are no connections between them, although at many places the walls which end the passages ring with a hollow sound when struck by a hammer or club.

NEED THE STONE

The Mark Twain cave, as one of this series, is surrounded by extensive strata of limestone which is essential in the manufacture of cement. A Portland cement company owns part of the hill under which it lies. The cement plant itself is but a mile or so south of "Cave Hollow." Its quarries have eaten into hills nearby and now are in the hill which houses the cave.

A visitor to the cave who happens to explore beyond the customary route, feels the tremors caused by blasting and at times bits of rock fall from the ceilings and walls around him. Some of the more remote passages already have fallen in, due to the shocks, and as the quarries close closer it is likely that the whole cave eventually will collapse. This is where the note of tragedy comes in.

The cave is by far the most picturesque natural thing in the vicinity. It has glamour of romance, an air of mystery about it, just as other caves have, plus the immortal touch that Mark Twain's pen gave to it. It is entered at the base of a high hill through an opening which has been enlarged to ample proportions and which is supported by artificial arches. The entrance was originally much smaller; it was a hole in the side of the hill. Then there are four other known ways in which the cave may be entered. These are holes of different sizes that are strung along the hillside, one very high on it, so that one must wriggle through its narrow limits and descend a steep incline to arrive at the level of the main entrance.

Numerous freshets and springs are to be found and there are some stalactites and stalagmites, although most of these have been broken off by tourists. The deeper one penetrates, the higher the ceiling becomes, and there are many places where the height of the passage is 50 feet. In some places the floor climbs almost to the ceiling and then descends into dark mystic valleys.

The spring which quenched the thirst of Tom and Becky is there, not far from the original entrance. Mark Twain wrote about. The precedent set by these two child lovers has been zealously followed and the walls of the cave, in the familiar parts, are covered with names and dates scratched after a candle had deposited a back-ground of soot.

Outside is a beautiful valley, roofed by the branches of numerous trees, its chief inhabitant is the chigger, which asserts itself vigorously when picnickers spread their repasts on the grass. A few hundred feet away is the Mississippi, while a peaceful little branch divides the valley.

Just over the hill to the north is the cemetery in which are buried most of the Clemens family, and then Hannibal itself, where the name "Mark Twain" bobs up at almost every street corner. There is a Mark Twain hotel, a Mark Twain automobile club and numerous Mark Twain businesses. One of the "sights" is the former home of the famous humorist.

Standing on the lip of a bluff overlooking the river in what is known as Riverview Park, is a statue of Mark Twain. He stands, a commanding figure, surveying the miles of country that lie beneath him. Bridal wreath, red-bud, may apple and wild roses bloom about him. In the distance the river loses itself in the hills. Just across and down a bit is Jackson Island, where Huck Finn's father had his abode. It is as if the great humorist was standing guard over the country he loved so well.

The blasts will soon wreck the cave, something is not done to prevent. In Hannibal one hears of the unsafe condition of the remote passages and many people are loath to enter at all.

The Question Box

(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Appleton Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Frederick J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The Bureau cannot give advice on legal and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Give your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)

Q. What is done with the original drawing of a patent? H.-C. D.

A. It is stored away among the other records in the Patent Office after the grant of the patent. For inspection by inventors and attorneys engaged in making investigations a printed copy is placed on the classified sets that are kept on the shelves in the Search Room at the Patent Office.

Q. Are potatoes and onions in the same class? B. J. H.

A. They do not belong to the same class. Potatoes are tubers and onions are bulbous plants.

Q. Are Treasury Savings Certificates for sale? T. B.

A. Treasury Savings Certificates were withdrawn from sale July 15, 1924. They are not transferable and are payable only to the owner named thereon except in case of the death or disability of the owner and in such cases will be payable and may be reassued as provided for.

Q. To what countries does the United States export steel? G. R.

A. The amount of steel exports in 1923 was 2,009,141 long tons. We ship steel to countries all over the world. Our best customers are Canada, Japan, Cuba, United Kingdom, Mexico, China, Brazil, Australia, Philippine Islands and Chile.

Q. About how long ago was the organ introduced for church use in England Germany and France? C. E. R.

A. In a monograph on the history of the organ it says: "In 1000 the organ was improved by Pope Sylvester and in this century, we find organs used in the churches in Erfurt, Magdeburg, and Halberstadt, in eastern Germany, and about the same time they were introduced for church use in England and France."

Q. Who wrote the first history of the Revolution? D. M.

A. This distinction is claimed for Mr. Mercy Warren of Plymouth. Her history was written when she was 77.

Q. Who was Jack Jouett? N. R.

A. He was a Virginia hero who overheard a plot to capture Thomas Jefferson at Monticello. The tavern keeper, Jouett, covered 27 miles in an hour and three quarters. His warning made it possible for Jefferson to escape Tarleton's troopers who had been sent out to surprise the House of Burgesses in Charlottesville and to capture the author of the Declaration of Independence. The legislators also escaped.

Q. Were the sphinxes the burial places of kings? D. C.

A. The sphinxes were not the tombs of kings. Archaeologists are of the opinion that they were employed to guard the approach to a temple. According to the inscriptions of the 15th dynasty in the shrine between the paws of the Great Sphinx, it represented the Sun God Harmachis. In many cases the heads of sphinxes were royal portraits.

Q. Why is unbleached cotton yellow when raw cotton is white? J. K. G.

A. There is yellow in cotton even in the raw state but it is not noticeable in the boll. Unbleached muslin sometimes is sized with tallow which makes it appear a little more yellow than it would otherwise.

Q. When was New Zealand discovered? W. B. S.

A. New Zealand was discovered by Tasman in December, 1642. Captain Cook explored parts of the country in 1769, 1772 and 1777. In 1814 the Reverend Samuel Marsden established a mission at the Bay of Islands. A British resident was appointed in 1823.

Q. When was a fan first used on an automobile to cool the engine? F. R. H.

A. The National Automobile Chamber of Commerce says that the first record it has of a fan being used on an automobile for cooling the engine is a Daimler car with a Fly Wheel Fan. This was prior to the year, 1888.

Gorow Is Named Head Of Temple

Edward M. Gorow was elected eminent commander at the meeting of Appleton Commandery of Knights Templar which preceded the social evening Friday in Masonic temple. Others elected are: William Rookes, generalissimo; John Lappen, captain general; Carlton Saecher, senior warden; Percy Widstein, junior warden; the Rev. J. A. ## Adventures Of The Twins

THE SCISSOR GRINDER

"Now that the Rag man and the Umbrella Mender are started on their spring travels," said the March Hare to the Twins, "it is high time that we get the Scissor Grinder started, too."

"Where does he live?" asked Nancy.

"In the winter he lives on Do Nothing Street in Wait-a-while Town. That's where he is now. We'll go there right away."

So the Twins hopped on the March Hare's back, and away he went lipping, lopping, hop to Do Nothing Street in Wait-a-while Town. And there they were, right at the Scissor Grinder's door.

"Come in," said the Scissor Grinder's voice when they knocked.

Without waiting to be asked twice they went right in.

"How'd do," said he.

"S'it down," everybody.

"S'it down," invited the Scissor Grinder setting chairs.

The March Hare took out his watch and looked at it uneasily. "Thankee kindly, sir, but really we shouldn't—there isn't much time to lose. You should have been started long ago."

"Who Me?" cried the Scissor Grinder in surprise. "Why what time is it? I've been so busy working cross-word puzzles that I haven't looked at the date since last November."

"Well," said the March Hare solemnly wagging his ears—"it's hair-cutting time for one thing."

"Hair-cutting time," cried the Scissor Grinder. "What's that?"

"Just what I said," remarked the hare. "All winter long mothers are afraid to cut their babies' hair for fear they catch cold. Now that warm days are here and they have to have new bonnets, it's hair-cutting time. And hair-cutting time means that they will be needing sharp scissors."

"Ho, ho!" laughed the Scissor Grinder. "I'll certainly have to be thinking about going. I have only four more cross-word puzzles, and when they are finished I shall oil up my grinder and start along."

"And it's dress-making time, also," said the March Hare. "Everybody has to have a new dress for Easter. More sharp scissors are needed for that. In fact I heard Mrs. Morris say she was going to start her spring sewing right away."

"Perhaps I'd better just work three more puzzles," said the Scissor Grinder thoughtfully.

"And then there is the pruning to do," said the Hare. "Everybody who has a garden has to get out early and prune his shrubs and bushes. Scissors again."

"Perhaps I can do with two puzzles," said the Scissor Grinder.

"And it's house-cleaning time there will be wall papering to do. And the paper hangers will need scissors every minute."

"One puzzle then," said the Scissor Grinder. "I'll only take time to work one."

Then Nancy spoke up. "But the children need them for doll clothes and cut-outs and everything."

"I'll go at once," declared the Scissor Grinder. "I'll put on my old clothes and oil my grinder and be off this very minute."

And if you listen, my dears, most any fine day you may hear a voice calling out, "Scissors to grind! Scissors to grind!"

So have yours all handy when he comes your way.

LETTER FROM ZOE ELLINGTON TO ELIZABETH SWARTZ IN GENEVA, SWITZERLAND

My Dear Elizabeth: I know it may seem strange to you that I have not written since I came to America but this is such a vast country where people are so taken up always with such surprising things. They go from one to another pursuit so rapidly that it does seem as though I have just arrived a day or two ago instead of being here months and months. Americans are most peculiar—the women especially. I am sure, dear Elizabeth, that your father would say that this whole country is ruled by women.

You see I am writing as though I were not an American. I was only four years old when I came over to live in the school at Geneva and made the acquaintance of you and your dear family and I have become so impregnated with the old-world ideas and methods that I do not seem even to myself a native of this country.

Do not misunderstand me, for I think my native land the most beautiful place to live in all the world. It certainly is the best on all the earth for women. They not only seem to be queen of their own household but they have a finger in politics and business as well. The only criticism I have to make is that men seem too engrossed in business and that both men and women are engaged in so many other things that they do not take time to understand those that are nearest and dearest to them.

The former wife of my brother received me with open arms. She wanted me to be one of her family. Of course I could not accept this and so she arranged a place for me immediately with a friend of hers, a Mrs. John Alden Prescott, as governess and nurse to her little boy, who is hardly more than a baby now.

The place is very satisfactory, as Mrs. Prescott has some ideas which coincide with mine on the bringing up of children. She wants them to begin immediately to learn something of their souls and spirits as well as the care of their bodies.

Altitude, who was my brother's wife, is immensely wealthy and before she married Mr. Burke she and Mrs. Prescott ran a shop in Albany, where they sell underclothes too beautiful to wear. I am sure your dear mother would be shocked at them. She would say that no one but demimondaines would possibly wear such gorgeous silks and laces and she would consider that Mrs. Burke and Mrs. Prescott were contaminating themselves by contact with such people even in trade. Both Mrs. Burke and Mrs. Prescott, however, wear these things themselves.

I have seen lingerie handed over to a laundress that is almost worth a bride's dowry in Switzerland, that are worn without a thought of their cost.

Even the little shop-girls wear the sincerest of silk stockings and the most beautiful shoes. I always think when I see them, of our peasants with their wooden sabots.

Little Jack is waking. I'll finish this letter tomorrow, dear.

LIONS TO ENTERTAIN FOR NEWEST CITIZENS

The Lions club has dispensed with the meeting scheduled for Monday and is making arrangements for a reception for newly naturalized citizens next Thursday noon. The reception and entertainment will be held at the Conway hotel following naturalization hearings in the courthouse in the morning.

Principal speakers will be Judge Edgar V. Werner of circuit court and George N. Danielson, United States naturalization examiner.

No Sunday Services
There will be no services at All Saints Episcopal church on Sunday morning. It has been announced. Inability to find a priest to conduct the service is the reason. Sunday school will be held as usual, however.

HELPED THROUGH CHANGE OF LIFE

Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during this critical time

Baltimore, Md.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to help me through the change of life and for a broken-down system. I had been complaining a long time and dragging along had tried other medicines which did not help me much. I read in the newspapers of the Vegetable Compound and after taking a bottle I felt better. I did not stop with one bottle, but took it through the whole critical time and am now practically a well woman. I have two daughters whose health was very bad before they married and I was worried about them. I got the Vegetable Compound for them and it helped them, and after they married it also helped them in bearing their babies. This is a great and good medicine for all complaints of women, and I recommend it to all."—Mrs. L. G. GREGORY, 1375 N. Gilmer St., Baltimore, Maryland.

The Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine for women of middle age. Let it relieve you of nervousness, that feeling of strain and those annoying hot flashes so common at this time.

SEND APPLETON FORESTER TO NATIONAL MEET

Mrs. Thomas O'Keefe was elected delegate to the national convention to be held August 4 in Denver, Col., at the state convention of Women's Catholic Order of Foresters which was held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at Madison. High court officers will be elected at the national convention. Others elected from the vicinity of Appleton are: Mrs. Martha Metta, Kaukauna; Mrs. Anna Sues, Menasha; Mrs. Jane McMahon, Menasha; and Mrs. Clara LaBerge of Kimberly are alternates.

The convention opened Tuesday morning with a mass at the church of the Holy Redeemer. At the meeting which followed the services, Gov. John J. Blaine was the principal speaker. On Wednesday a mass for the deceased members was celebrated at 9 o'clock in St. Raphael church. Delegates to the national convention were elected at the meeting which followed and on Wednesday evening a banquet was given by officers of the Madison courts for the visiting delegates. The banquet was given at Hotel Lorraine and nearly 400 persons were served. The convention closed with a banquet Thursday night.

HARDWARE MEN LIKE LECTURE MEETINGS

More than 50 hardware dealers and clerks of the Fox river valley attended the third series of lectures in the hardware school conducted at the Y. M. C. A. Friday night. This class was the last on the three-day program inaugurated by the Wisconsin Retail Hardware association, which probably will be an annual event hereafter. The lectures drew large crowds in spite of the fact that they were little advertised and only a few days' notice given, and all the dealers who attended expressed themselves in favor of continuing them.

The decoration of display windows was the subject of the first address delivered by W. H. Barker of the Barker Window Display System of Milwaukee. Philip B. Jacobson, department of accounting and business practice, spoke of the attractive arrangement of stock in the stores and its effect on sales, and B. Christensen, assistant secretary of the Wisconsin Retail Hardware association, suggested means of eliminating unnecessary expenses.

After hearing the three lectures, the dealers joined in an informal discussion, comparing experiences and telling of methods they had found profitable.

GIVE DIPLOMAS
TO GRADUATES OF HIGH SCHOOL

Senior Class Closes High School Career at Commencement Program

Kaukauna—High school graduating exercises of the high school seniors Friday evening in the high school auditorium opened with a selection "Golden Scepter" by the orchestra. The address of welcome was delivered by Kurt Beler, who dwelled briefly upon the achievements of the class of 1925.

Norbert Gerend departed from the precedent of giving a salutatory address on a subject of national importance and confined his remarks to an optimistic survey of the progress in municipal affairs. He opened his address by stating that four years ago the salutatory had delivered an address bemoaning the fact that Kaukauna needed a new high school. The speaker of 1925 declared it was his privilege as a representative of the class to thank the citizens of Kaukauna for their efforts during the last few years. Gerend spoke of the city municipal building, the paving program and the bridge building program and declared that no longer is it necessary for a local citizen to hang his head in shame when asked whether he is from Kaukauna.

The valedictory was a talk on the history and development of child labor by Miss Josephine Maes, who traced the origin of child labor to the middle ages when hordes of children were taken by mill owners because they could work cheaper than adults.

Miss Maes followed the development of child labor up to the present day with special reference to conditions in this country. She declared that even in 1924 there were enough states in this country to defeat an amendment to the constitution giving congress power to regulate the condition in the United States.

The class, composed of 20 girls and 19 boys, 39 in all, was presented by Olin G. Dryer, principal. Mr. Dryer spoke briefly of the merits of the class, declaring that although others will spring into their places, members of this year's class will be missed in high school ranks. Diplomas were awarded by H. T. Runte, president of the board of education.

The Cashmere Song was sung by "School" were given by the boys quartet composed of Alex Jacobson, Walter Ditter, Carl Grimm and Lester Linder-muth. The girls' glee club sang "Orpheus with his Lute," "Bells of St. Mary's" and "Amaryllis." The senior friends sang "True" and "Goodbye High School." Carl Grimm and two selections "Old class song to the tune of 'Farewell to Thee'" closed the program.

Kaukauna—First Congregational, Rev. Daniel Woodward, pastor—Sunday school, 9:45; Children's day, 10:30. Sunday will be very important to the work of this church. Children's day program has been placed one week earlier than usual to secure the assistance of Miss Olson before she leaves for the west. The service will open at 10:30 to permit closing the meeting before 12 o'clock. A large section of the program will be given by the primary department of the Sunday school in addition to prayer by the pastor, a few selections by the intermediate department, a sermon and infant baptism. All parents wishing to have their children christened have been requested to confer with the pastor. The offering will go to the regular local church work if in envelopes and the loose offering to religious education. Come and bring your friends.

There will be no choir rehearsal this week.

Reformed, Rev. E. L. Worthman, pastor—Services and Sunday school suspended because of closing exercises at Reformed Mission House which a large portion of the local congregation will attend.

St. Mary, Rev. Conrad Ripp, pastor.

MULLENIX TELLS
H. S. GRADS HOW TO MAKE SUCCESS

World Has Reached Stage Where It Is More Interested in Methods Than Results

Kaukauna—A commencement address on Methods and Results was delivered by Dr. R. C. Mullenix of Lawrence college Friday evening at the graduating exercises of high school seniors in the high school auditorium before a gathering of about 350 parents, relatives and friends. Mr. Mullenix declared there are two types of people in the world, those who are primarily interested in results and those whose chief interest is in the method of accomplishing things.

Those interested in results want results only regardless of what method is used to obtain them. On the other hand results do not concern the other type, they are more concerned in the method of doing tasks.

To look facts in the face, to have the courage to meet every obstacle and to have strength of purpose are essentials in progress of man. The professor stated man has made more progress over nature in the nineteenth century, than in all the other centuries combined due to the fact man has reached a scientific age. He declared men have given their attention to methods and have allowed results to take care of themselves.

"Roosevelt was a member of that class which desires results. We have the Panama canal but after its completion Uncle Sam paid an indemnity of millions of dollars because of the method used to obtain the waterway," the speaker stated. "Wilson was a man of the other type. In one of his addresses he stated he would rather fail in a large undertaking which might serve to solve the problems of nations in future generations than to succeed in a smaller undertaking."

The speaker pointed out that results are important, however. He declared most people are judged by the results they are capable of, the methods seldom being taken into consideration.

"Members of the graduating class," said Mr. Mullenix "you have acquired two great things in your high school course. You have acquired appreciation of the ends of human existence and have gained training in methods by which the ends may be achieved."

"Find out what to do and then find out how to do it. You will find your task will be the finding and refining of definitions, the setting and re-setting of stakes. Experiences of life will tell you when to be loyal to method, experiences will tell you when to yield and when to stand solid."

"Experiences of life will give you adaptation without hypocrisy; tact without deceit and diplomacy without duplicity."

$30,000 RESORT
OPENS ON JULY 4

Indian Crossing Casino Will Have Immense Pavilion, Boating and Bathing

Special to Post-Crescent
Waupaca—July 4 will be the opening date of the new dance resort at Indian Crossing under the management of Francis W. Steele of Chicago, who has been engaged by William R. Arnold, owner, also of that city. The resort is to be known as the Indian Crossing Casino. There will be dancing every holiday and every evening except Sunday. Arabian Knight orchestra, Chicago, a noted radio broadcasting organization, has been engaged.

The size of the pavilion is 55 by 135 feet, with a dock along one entire side of the channel. It has diving platforms, water toboggans, a 25-boat livery and tennis courts. Room has been provided for the parking of 400 cars at one time. In addition to the regular dance floor a stage has been installed, equipped with necessary scenery.

When completed an investment of nearly $30,000 will be represented. In addition to the regular musicians in Waupaca City band under the leadership of C. T. Carrol, seven musical artists of the Arabian Knight orchestra of the Indian Crossing casino will play each Thursday evening in the regular weekly concerts in the city of Waupaca.

Dancing at the Casino these nights will start at 9:20 instead of 8 o'clock as on other evenings.

Dr. and Mrs. H. E. MacLaughlin, formerly of this city, but more recently of Scandinavia, will return to the city to live on Dr. Lin's, having purchased the residence of Shirley W. Holmes. Mr. and Mrs. Holmes expect to reside at the lakes during the summer.

Are You Serving
Well Balanced Meals?

The problems of food selection often cause the conscientious housewife a good deal of worry. Adequacy, wholesomeness, attractiveness and cost must all be considered.

The Government booklet entitled "Good Portions in the Diet" covers thoroughly every detail of food selection. It tells what kinds of food are needed, gives the proportions and amounts of food required, and suggests a number of menus for well-balanced meals.

Every woman who is responsible for the meals of a household should have a copy of this book. Send for yours today. Fill out and mail the coupon below, enclosing two cents in stamps for return postage.

LOWER FOX RIVER TO REPAIR LEAK IN WATER MAIN

Huge Sum and Time Is Saved
Water Department by U. S.
Order to Drop Level

Saving of more than a thousand dollars and perhaps several weeks' time will be made possible to Appleton water department in repairing a leak in a water main through authority granted by the government to Thomas W. Orblison, waterpower engineer, to reduce the flowage through the dams four feet Saturday night and Sunday.

The water level immediately above the lower government dam here will be drawn down approximately four feet at midnight Saturday and will be kept that way until midnight Sunday. Full flowage then will be resumed.

Saturday of last week the consumption gauge at the pumping station indicated a large leak somewhere in the system. It finally was located beneath the river near the bridge over the tail race of the Riverside plant. This section was cut out of the system temporarily by cutoff valves and the water supply to that section of the Fourth ward and the mills provided through other mains.

The water main had pulled apart under water, causing the leak. It was in a place where the current is swift, making it impossible for workmen to fix it. Lowering of the water four feet will expose the pipe and it is expected the repairs can be made before midnight Sunday.

It would have been necessary, otherwise, to build a coffer dam, pump all the water out and then make repairs. An instance where this was necessary some time ago is cited by Fred Morris, secretary of Appleton water commission. Contractors had to be hired to build a coffer dam at a cost of $1,600 and when workmen actually reached the main to make repairs, they did the work in an hour and a half. It took almost a month's time to perfect the dam and remove the water.

were that the day would be the hottest of the season and the mercury showed 63 degrees above at 8 o'clock. A brisk wind arose and continued blowing all day, however, and the thermometer registered only 89 at noon, but with no sign of falling below that point. At 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon the mercury still was hovering about the 90 mark, but the breeze provided considerable relief.

STAGE And SCREEN

FAMOUS NOVE LMADE INTO

"The Scarab Ring," which will be shown at the New Bijou Theatre on Monday and Tuesday is a strong society play which contains an element of mystery and suspense and is based upon the novel by Harriet Gaylord entitled "The Desperate Heritage." The scenes are all laid in homes of wealth or public buildings, and Miss Joyce appears as a young woman, brought up in luxury, a type role in which she has achieved her greatest success.

The story of "The Scarab Ring" is one of unusual interest, holds the attention from the first flash and at times fills the audience tense with emotion, suspense and mystery. The love element is introduced early in the story and is well developed. In fact, two love stories run simultaneously. The elements of mystery deals with the solving of a crime of which the heroine is accused, due to circumstantial evidence in the form of a scarab ring. This scarab is supposed to be the only one of its kind in existence. A clever lawyer, the father of the heroine's sweetheart, proves that there are scarabs and scarabs and that it is foolish to claim any one thing the only one of its kind in the world. Upon this theory hinges the action of the story. Whether the lawyer was right or not is told by the picture.

co-featured with Doris Kenyon and supported by a cast which includes Phyllis Haven, May Allison, Paul Nicholson, Kate Bruce and others. Film fans will find an interesting contrast between Sils' notable role in "The Sea Hawk" and his characterization in "I Want My Man." The latter is that of a war-blinded soldier who returns cured after eight years in France to find his country steeped in a mania of pleasure chasing. "I Want My Man" was adapted from the novel, "The Interpreter's House," by Struthers Burt. It was produced for First National under the supervision of Earl Hudson and was directed by Lambert Hillyer.

GOOD WILL VERY DEFINITE ASSET TO BUSINESSMAN

Babson Discussed Controversy Over Big Price Paid for Dodge Brothers Property

Babson Park, Mass.—In view of the controversy which has arisen over the value of good will in connection with the sale of Dodge Brothers, Roger W. Babson has felt that this was largely a fight between definite Wall Street factors and has endeavored to keep out of it, but he today consented to give his opinion on the general subject of trade mark and good will values. Mr. Babson's statement is as follows:

"Many people wonder how it is that American Sugar stocks can be going down while American Tobacco stocks are climbing upward. At first thought this seems to be a paradox. Both companies are well established and both are handling an article of general consumption, and, if anything, sugar is certainly more of a necessity than tobacco. Both are the largest producers in their respective fields; therefore, at first sight, there seems no logical reason for sugar stocks to be tumbling while tobacco stocks are climbing upward. There is, however, a fundamental difference between these two securities. Sugar is bought in bulk by the pound without reference as to who manufactures it while tobacco is bought in cans and packages and bought by the brand. That is to say, the sugar business is a non-brand business and the tobacco business is a brand business, and from the keen investor's point of view there is as much difference between the two as between night and day. When anyone buys sugar he simply asks for 'sugar' and pays no attention to the brand. But when one asks for tobacco he calls for some specific brand. Doubtless the sugar people see this difference and hence are endeavoring to establish trade names for cube and powdered sugars."

"I do not wish to get involved one way or another in the merits of the Dodge Brothers sale. It would be wrong for me, or anyone else, to give an opinion on a specific case like this without a thorough knowledge of all the circumstances. My hunch is that Dodge Brothers securities will sell for less before they reach their natural level. But I do believe that their good will, to which the bankers who are criticizing the Dodge Brothers' securities would far rather, at the present time, have the name and good will without any real estate, buildings, machinery, or other tangible assets, than to have all these tangible assets without the name and good will. Brands, trade marks, and good will are the most valuable kinds of assets. The difficulty with them is that their value can be more easily destroyed than the value of tangible property. The concern which has the most valuable brands is like a man carrying a pan of molten gold over a rough mountain pass—with the least tipping of the pan one way or the other some of the gold is apt to run out, and if he should stumble all would be lost. It is said that the higher up in the tree a bird builds her nest the easier it is for the nest to be robbed. Hence, the most valuable brands must be protected most carefully, both from outside pirates and from short sighted men in the management who are neglecting the quality or reducing advertising appropriations simply to secure immediate profits. I cannot speak too highly of the value of trade marks, brands, and other forms of good will, but I must at the same time say that they can be very easily ruined."

"Farmers often wonder why it is that their sale of oats will be declining while the sale of Quaker Oats boxes will be increasing. Certain oil companies which sell only crude oil are today in financial difficulties while other companies which have valuable brands are still doing a fine business. Shredded wheat sells just the same wherever the wheat market is poor; water is always in demand whether it is raining or shining; and Ivory soap is still being used by the great grandchildren of mothers who bought it when it first began to advertise. All of this means that brands and trade marks, when properly developed and protected, seem to prosper irrespective of business conditions, changes in customs, and even changes in management. Brands outlive the lives of their founders, and when properly cared for are like rivers that run on forever. Once I was called to Washington in connection with a trust investigation. The Government was endeavoring to break up a trust monopoly depending not upon trade agreements, but rather on a brand which was a household word in every community. Because of this the Govern-

National Incomes And Prices Nearer Balance

BY JOHN T. FLANN
NEW YORK—Three things in this week's news are worth recording at the top of any budget of business factors. They are:

1. The fact drawn from figures just issued that national income and prices are now at about the same level.
2. The Supreme Court decision permitting a freer exchange of trade data among the members of trade associations.
3. The cotton report.

The most important thing in business is balance. It makes no difference how high or low prices are, provided all lines of business are operating on the same price level. I have noted already that there has been a slow but steady movement toward this sort of balance—all prices working more or less toward the same level and making every man's dollar the same in value.

Now we are getting a balance between national income and prices. After the war prices soared. So did national income. But prices went up far faster and higher than income. Lately there has been a converging of prices and income to the same level. So that today, for the first time since the war our general average of commodity prices and our national income stand exactly at the same point. We are now just about where we were when the war broke in this respect.

Of great importance, though the effect will not be noticed for a considerable time, is the decision of Justice Stone overruling the Daugherty ruling against the collection and distribution of trade statistics by trade associations. This will undoubtedly accelerate the growth of highly organized trade groups and tend toward an earlier establishment of that guild system in business which has been developing for a long time.

COTTON REPORT

Then the cotton crop report is important. However, it revealed what has been known for some time. It is a little odd how cotton broke as prospects for a very large crop. Here was a fact known for a long time, yet its official announcement by the Government acts with the force of a brand new piece of information. There is another fact worth considering. The Government reports that retail sales were larger this year in April than in April of last year. Now this is always interesting information. But when we remember that the Easter buying season last year was in April, while this year it was more largely in March, the information becomes doubly significant. The department stores of this country did more business by 12 per cent than they did in March and had the latest April business in the history of these concerns. The record for the year to date is that retail sales for the first four months is substantially greater than last year.

Of course in the wholesale markets there declined a little. But this is seasonal. It always does in April. However the falling off this April was a little heavier than in the same month last year, though the volume of sales this year was slightly larger than last.

There has been a reduction in the number of commercial failures. I record this fact because many persons insist on attaching importance to them. But, unless there is an abnormal bulge in the number of failures, ment was powerless to touch them. I returned to advise my clients to spend their money on national advertising which would build up a monopoly which no government could touch rather than send it upon lawyers to create a structure which any politician could break down.

"I don't want these comments to be interpreted as a defense of the Dodge Brothers transaction, but I do wish to impress on every business man, especially the manufacturer and jobber, the necessity and importance of protecting brands, trade marks and the like. However small a manufacturer may be it is very important that he should have some brand or trade mark which can be used on all his advertising, letter heads, bill heads, and everything else which he puts out. I also wish to impress upon local bankers that they give more attention to the value of good will in connection with granting credit to manufacturers and merchants. I therefore urge investors not to give all their weight to good will, or all their weight to tangible assets, but to intelligently weigh both. This is especially important in days like these when business is wavering along the middle path and the Babson chart registers 2 per cent below normal."

A BUSINESS GAUGE

I think them of no importance as bearing on the general business situation.

A thing of infinitely more concern is employment. The record of production slowing up would seem to indicate that employment must be dropping off to form a correct opinion about employment statistics. The only data available now is from New York. Here the payrolls have declined a little. But these are factory payrolls. Unless we can know something of the state of employment in building, agricultural and other lines outside the factories, we cannot say whether employment is increasing or decreasing.

So far as factories go, we will very likely see some further reductions in payrolls. The textile mills are gradually cutting down and this may gather further momentum as the summer advances.

WATCHING THE FARMS

In the meantime the key to our business condition next fall is in the farms. Just now all talk about the crops is pure guess work. Wheat, as usual, occupies the largest share of the guess work. The department of Agriculture, however, is not over optimistic. It insists that whereas last year we had a bumper crop at a time of world shortage—the ideal condition—this year we are threatened with a small yield with larger crops abroad.

Of course this is looking a long way ahead. So many things may intervene to alter this view. But the present outlook has its full share of shadows.

But again it is important to repeat the caution I have so often indulged in, namely that wheat forms only a small part of our agricultural product. It is possible to have a very prosperous year without an over-prosperous wheat belt. Of course I do not deny the importance of prosperity everywhere. But we must not over-emphasize it.

Optimism as usual draws broad smiles from the recovery of the stock market. But again I insist that this is without significance as to the general business situation.

RAIL MILEAGE IS SAME AS IN 1913

As Many Miles of Rails Torn Up as Laid in Decade Ending in 1923

Referring to the Interstate Commerce Commission's complete statistics of the railways for 1923 which were issued this week, the Railway Age calls attention to the fact that they show that at the end of 1923 the total mileage in the country had declined until it was almost exactly the same as in 1913.

"It is significant in this connection," the Railway Age says, "that in the ten years ending with 1913 the railways earned 5.24 per cent on their property investment and railroad mileage increased 22.25 miles, while in the ten years ending with 1923 the return earned averaged only 3.74 per cent on property investment and mileage did not increase at all."

"The decline began in 1914 and reached its maximum in 1921 and 1922. It amounted in 1923 to 191 miles. The decline now seems about stopped temporarily at least. Statistics compiled by this paper indicate that in 1924 the mileage built somewhat exceeded the mileage torn up. The net return earned by the railways in 1923 and 1924 was larger than in the two preceding years, and

FRIGIDAIRE IS NEW METHOD OF COOLING FOODS

Electricity is Replacing Ice in Home Iceboxes, Appleton Concern Says

Electrical refrigeration, for the home has been placed within the reach of everyone with the perfection of the Frigidaire, a complete refrigeration plant which now sells at $245. A low priced electric refrigerator has been the aim of manufacturers for a long time and in the perfection of this new Delco-Light product is seen an achievement that probably will mean a great deal in modern household economies.

F. D. Kirk, of the Electrical Appliance Co., local Frigidaire dealer, in demonstrating the machine, recently said: "Everyone knows that electric refrigeration for the household has been accomplished successfully, and that the electric refrigerators which have been going into the homes of America for many months have resulted in a service and satisfaction far beyond any secured from cooling with melting ice."

The Frigidaire consists of an electric motor that drives a machine which automatically keeps the temperature in the refrigerator's compartments at 50 degrees below zero. When this temperature, or any other desired, is reached the machine automatically stops itself until the temperature has fallen several degrees, when it starts the motor once more. Instead of using ammonia as in most refrigeration plants, this machine uses sulphur dioxide and eliminates the frequent change of chemical necessary in the old style plants. With this machine the air in the box is kept perfectly dry. There is no drip from melting ice to take care of. A number of small compartments surrounded by the coils of the cooler are provided for the freezing of sherbet, ice cubes for beverages and the like, doing away with the sand and sediment often found in the bottom of a glass or other receptacle cooled with lake or river ice.

The Frigidaire can be had for considerably less than the $245 asked for the complete equipment. The machine itself without a box may be had for $130. Mr. Kirk said, and then may be installed in any ordinary box. "When people begin to realize how this machine safeguards health by doing away with the unsanitary conditions resulting from the use of ice," Mr. Kirk went on, and when they see how it saves steps and labor at a comparatively low cost, they will look upon it as a necessity rather than a luxury, and no one will wish to be without one."

More than 100,000 Frigidaire machines are in use all over the country, but it was not until recently that they have been introduced and advertised in the smaller towns. So great has been the demand in the larger cities, that it has been impossible to keep up with the demand. Ice cream parlors, and shops of all kinds that handle perishable goods know the efficiency of this machine, and now that the production facilities of the Delco Co. permit a wider distribution, the use of natural ice will be gradually replaced.

It would seem from the available statistics that this has resulted in some lines being kept in existence which undoubtedly would have been torn up except for the improvement in earnings that has occurred. "The total decline in mileage in the country between June 30, 1916, and December 31, 1923, is shown by the statistics just issued by the Commission to have been 4,929 miles. The decline in the last six months of 1916 was 214 miles; in the year 1917, 412; in 1918, 97; in 1919, 377; in 1920, 307; in 1921, 1669; in 1922, 743; in 1923, 191. The decline was the largest in 1921 when the percentage of net return earned by the railways on their property investment was the smallest ever known.

"There were twenty-three states in which the mileage declined in 1922 and twenty-five in which it increased. The largest declines were in Arkansas 117 miles, and Georgia, 125 miles; while the largest increases were in Utah, 52 miles, and in Wyoming, 49 miles.

Have adopted this new way in personal hygiene

In fairness to yourself you should know about this new way in personal hygiene—employed today by 5 million women. At least you should try it.

This new way is Kotex. It is a super-absorbent sanitary pad made of Cellucotton—5 times as absorbent as cotton. It absorbs instantly 16 times its own weight in moisture.

Each Kotex pad is an active deodorant, impregnated with a new secret disinfectant. Kotex is easily disposed of—just like a piece of tissue. Packed in sanitary sealed packages of 12—Kotex comes in 2 sizes: Regular, and Kotex-Super (extra large). Get Kotex Deodorized, in the blue box with white stripes, at most stores.

TUNNEY KNOCKS OUT GIBBONS IN TWELFTH ROUND

St. Paul Boxer, Only A Shell Of Greatness, Is Out Of Race For Title

Tunney, Fighting Savage Battle, Has Best Of Scrap With Western Phantom

New York.—The shadow of a New York heavyweight who climbed to pugilistic fame out of the trenches of the World war, Saturday stretched across the path of Jack Dempsey. Gene Tunney has done what no other heavyweight, not even Dempsey himself has been able to do—conquer Tom Gibbons by a knockout.

After eleven rounds of fighting without thrills at the Polo Grounds Friday night, the former A. E. F. champion sent the game veteran from St. Paul down for the count under a smashing right to the chin in the twelfth.

The crowd was stunned. In the round before it had booed the two men for failure to put up the hit fight which had been expected, but apparently Tunney alone was aware that his foe, a veteran of 36 years old, was willing under the grueling fire at close quarters. After one minute and 26 seconds of the twelfth round Tunney put out one of the most formidable heavyweight contenders in the country.

WHAT THEY SAID

Tunney—"I the fans thing I should fight Harry Wills first. I am ready to take him on at any time this summer, but I really think the knockout over Gibbons is enough to earn a match with the champion."

Gibbons—"I don't remember what round the bout ended in. I fought the best I could but the best was not good enough. That's all."

A right which felled Gibbons in a neutral corner so dazed him that he was unable to get his bearings as he arose. Tunney landed another wallop to the chin and this time Gibbons was finished.

The referee counted ten before he could recover.

The winner, whom Dempsey has promised to meet fought well through out but Gibbons appeared only a shell of the great boxer who stood off the champion at Shelby. On the eighth did the St. Paul man treat his audience to fireworks. Here he built his steady retreat under Tunney's barrage and lashed out with two terrific rights which jarred the New York man to the heels.

ONLY A FLASH

The rally was only a flash in the pan, however. In the next round Gibbons returned to the tactics which had marked the previous rounds, covering and retreating as Gene pressed to the attack with a sharp jab a battering hook to the body and short right chops to the head.

The battle was fought under intense heat. Gibbons welching 177 and Tunney 181½.

Visible damage was done in the fourth and fifth rounds. Tunney fuffed his foe's left eye and later splitting it open. Tom in return slightly cut Gene's lip, but the flow was brief except in the case of Gibbons who started to bleed again in the tenth.

While Gibbons fought his wife lay ill in a St. Paul hospital. The fight's friends said that worry over her condition undoubtedly had something to do with his defeat.

In the second preliminary, Earl Gorman of Kenosha, Wisconsin one of Gibbons' sparring partners, decisively defeated Jack DeMayo of New York. In a six round men's German won a unanimous decision. They also are heavyweights.

LEAGUE LEADERS FORGING AHEAD

Giants and Athletics Continue Hot Pace in Both Major Ball-Loops

New York.—Lines of limitation in the pennant race of the major leagues have been more closely drawn about two leaders in each circuit though a renewal Friday of the east-west series.

Eastern pacemakers increased their margins with the Giants smothering the last place Cardinals under a blanket of base hits, and the Athletics outdistancing the Tigers in a slugging run-uping teams to the trail makers, sped after the vanquished with the rest of the pack straining out behind.

Hopeful St. Louis, trailed by the sport of the Cardinals under their new manager, Rogers Hornsby, was subjected to the terrific bombardment by the National league champions which left the last place occupants dazed under an overwhelming reverse, 11 to 5.

After allowing the Cubs four runs in the first, Dazzy Vance held Chicago safe while Zach Wheat ripped off a brace of circuit smashes to give the Dodgers a close victory 7 to 6.

Philadelphia nationals strengthened the grip of the Robins on second place meanwhile, by going two extra frames to seal down the Pirates, 6 to 5.

Atlanta League turned in the day's pitching classic by limiting the Boston Braves to three hits as Cincinnati pulled out the game with a 10 round fight at East Chicago.

MCFARLANE WINS OPEN GOLF TITLE IN GREAT MATCH

Eastern Professional Wins from Bobby Jones by One Stroke in Second Play-off

Worcester, Mass.—Willie MacFarlane, a tall mild mannered Scot who wears horn rimmed glasses is now the open golf champion of the United States after the most thrilling competition in the history of the tournament.

In an unprecedented 36 hole play-off of a tie at 291 for the 72 holes of the tournament proper, MacFarlane, professional at the Oakridge club in the metropolitan golf district of New York, Friday defeated Bobby Jones, Atlanta amateur, on the torrid hills course of the Worcester Country club.

Not until the last putt on the home green, after two extra rounds, was the decided. Jones and MacFarlane wound up 18 holes Friday with 75 each and for the first time in history 18 more holes had to be played. For the second round MacFarlane took 72, one over par, and Jones 73.

Young men have long been capturing the laurels in this "old man's game." But youth cracked Friday and age stood the gaff—the nervous strain of championship competition plus record breaking heat.

The 36 year old Scot unhooked a 33 for the last nine holes, two under par, and got the title by an orthodox par four-drive, approach and two putts—at the home green, while Jones, aged 23, off the line with his drive on the final hole put his second into a trap, exploded a bit too strong and missed an eight foot putt that would have prolonged the competition still more.

MEL SHIMEK TO TRY TO BEAT PHELPS OF IOWA

Milwaukee.—Determined to do in this attempt what he has failed to accomplish in two previous efforts, Melvin Shimek, Marquette university's star distance runner from Kenosha, is competing in the Western conference track and field meet at Ohio State university, Columbus, over the present weekend.

Shimek's purpose in competing in the Ohio meet is to get another chance at Harold Phelps of Iowa, the only distance runner who has ever beaten the midget from Kenosha. Phelps turned the trick in a cross country spin at Anna Arbor last fall. At the Penn relays in April he defeated Shimek in the two mile international by a scant half foot.

Coach Jennings also is taking Capt. Harphel Gahan, Joe Hefnerman and Frank Shofen of his squad to the conference meet to compete in the 400, 440 and broad jump, respectively.

LIGHT HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMP

GENE TUNNEY

Outclassing his opponent, Tommy Gibbons, from the start and carrying the fight at all times, Gene Tunney landed the knockout punch in the twelfth round that gave him a firmer hold on the light-heavyweight title and put him in line for a heavyweight championship bout with Jack Dempsey. Tunney capped eight rounds, one was even, and Gibbons had a slight edge in two more, before the deciding blow in the twelfth.

Milwaukee Boy Cops 3 Bat Records In American Loop

Chicago.—Al Simmons, a one-time bush leaguer, for whom Connie Mack, witty manager of the Athletics is reportedly to have parted with $35,000 Saturday has a value of at least $75,000 to Mack. If the elongated, is out in front in total base hitting with 106. He has made 34 hits, including 11 doubles, a triple and 13 home runs. Gabby Hartnett of the Cubs still leads the National League in home runs with 14. Earl "Sparky" Adams of the Cubs, with thirteen thefts is setting the pace among the base stealers.

MENASHA SQUAD READY FOR GAME WITH KELLOGGS

Bull Durham and Dutch Sylvester Added to New Line-up for Sunday Battle

With several sluggers of state and midwest fame added to the lineup, the new Menasha ball team, under the direction of Harry Gossett, secretary of the disbanded State League crew will meet the Michigan state champion Kellogg at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at Menasha park. Harry Rush, old Pali manager and crack hurler of the 1924 State League, will toe the slab for the Kelloggs. A real battle is in prospect as Llewelyn, a star man in warm weather, will oppose Harry on the hill. The last few days have taken all the kinks from Llew's arm and the big boy is set to go.

A slugging outfield that will make the best in the State League work to play better ball is the boast of the new crew. Harry "Dutch" Sylvester and "Bull" Durham, premier batmen of the 1924 State loop, will hold down first base and an outfield berth for Menasha. Both boys have been the terror of opposing batmen whenever they played and Rush remembers what Dutch did to his hurling in one or two battles last year. Llewelyn, slugging star of the old Pails, will occupy the other garden, including in the Kellogg mound staff, is Lefty Smithson, former Green Bay hurler.

Lineups for the game will be: Menasha—Wurth, second base; Johnson, centerfield; Sylvester, first base (manager); Durham, rightfield; Mandv, catcher; J. Scheleski, third base; Cy Scheleski, shortstop; Anderson or Williams, rightfield; Llewelyn, pitcher. Kellogg-Kimball, leftfield; McHale, second base; Breckenridge, centerfield; Hammond, catcher; Wire, first base; Van Sistrine, third base, manager; Mitchell, rightfield; Watson or Claire, shortstop; Rush, Smithson, Millan, Kimpling, Brooks, pitchers.

Papermakers, Chilton In Important Eastern League Battle Sunday

Dats Crowe, Star Local Hurler, Toes Slab for Baetzmen in Sunday Tilt

STANDINGS
	W.	L.
Fond du Lac	0	0
Plymouth	0	1,000
Chilton	1	1
Campbellsport	0	2

SUNDAY'S GAMES
Plymouth at Fond du Lac.
Oshkosh at Campbellsport.
Chilton at Appleton.

With a record of one defeat and one victory Fox River Paper Co. baseball team of the Eastern Wisconsin League will see action on the home grounds Sunday with the Chilton crew as opponents. The protest lodged against the Papermakers by Oshkosh as the result of the use of Poca of Kimberly, against that crew last week, will not stand according to Manager C. D. Baetz of the locals. The league rules clearly state that "home players should receive the preference, but in case of necessity a man can be used that lives within a radius of 15 miles of the city in question." Mr. Baetz said.

Dats Crowe, star of Appleton's industrial leagues, and a member of Stormy Kromer's Elyville team this year, will toe the slab for the locals with Brockhouse behind the pan. The remainder of the lineup is the same as last week with one exception. Gosh will take short and C. T. Tarnow will take second base, merely shifting positions. Schmidt, who beat Appleton 2 to 1 last week is scheduled for mound duty for the invaders and Berth will again handle his shoots. The locals have been putting in some real likes this week under the direction of Doc Kolb 1924 Reedsburg manager, and the sluggers have retained their batting eye for a big weekend.

Lineups of the teams will be: Appleton—Turnow, second base; Gosh, shortstop; Schultz, third base; Baetz, centerfield; Radtke, leftfield; Klundt, rightfield; Van Wyck or Beyer, first base; Brockhouse, catcher; H. Crowe and H. Tarnow, pitchers. Chilton—Bauer, third base; Suttner first base; Elvick, centerfield; Berth, catcher; Strong, leftfield; Meyer, rightfield; Meiselsch, second base; Schmidt, pitcher; Hertel, shortstop.

GOLFERS COMPETE FOR MANY PRIZES SATURDAY

The largest entry list of the year was to compete Saturday in the second blind bogey tournament of Butte des Morts Golf club with several valuable awards as the prizes. The blind bogey meet takes the place of the sweepstakes which had been scheduled but which was postponed as the handicaps had not been well enough established to permit such a meet.

First and second prizes will be awards of golf balls, third prize will be golf clubs donated by A. Galpin and Sons Hardware Co. and fourth, golf sox donated by Matt Schmidt and Son. Several other valuable prizes are on the list.

Boston.—Jack Sharkey, heavy-weight, of Brighton, won by a foul from Jimmy Maloney of South Boston in the ninth round of their scheduled 10 round bout.

When Better Automobiles Are Built, Buick Will Build Them

No. 17

Question: Why do all of the great racing cars use Valve-in-Head engines?

Answer: Because this type develops the greatest speed and power. All first place winners of the Indianapolis 500 mile race since 1912 have had Valve-in-Head engines. Buick pioneered the Valve-in-Head engine in 1904 and has used it ever since because it is more powerful, more economical and more dependable.

The Miser and His Gold

Once upon a time there was a Miser who used to hide his gold at the foot of a tree in his garden; but every week he used to go and dig it up and gloat over his gains. A robber, who had noticed this, went and dug up the gold and decamped with it. When the Miser next came to gloat over his empty hole. He tore his hair, and raised such an outcry that all the neighbors came around him, and he told them how he used to come and visit his gold. "Did you ever take any of it out?" asked one of them.

"No," said he, "I only came to look at it."

"Then come again and look at the hole," said a neighbor; "It will do you just as much good."

Gymnasium to Cost About
$350,000

Discussion of plans for a gymnasium and college co., unitly building to cost in the neighborhood of $350,000 took up some time at the meeting. It is proposed to erect a gymnasium on the Smith property on the college campus. It is said. Elaborate plans are being considered for the structure.

Salary increases of from $100 to $400 a year was voted to professors the increases to depend upon the length of service and position. The increases aggregated over $10,000 a year, it was said.

Although the college books will not be closed until August, the present outlook points to a balance of about $10,000. About $60,000 was taken in during the past year in the form of new pledges, gifts, and endowments, and $25,000 collected on old pledges given before August, 1924.

Nothing definite as to a new building program can be stated until the new president is chosen. It was said. It is expected that the new athletic field will cost the school $30,000 when finished, including a house and field house. The land came as a gift from George A. Whiting, C. W. Nash last year made a gift of $2,500 to the athletic field fund, and the old field was sold for $12,000. As soon as the field is taken care of, efforts will be directed toward the new gymnasium.

All the plant will be gone over by experts with a view to the installation of the newest and best fire equipment. It was voted to install fire proof stairs in Main hall, although it will mean the expense of several thousand dollars. Investigation of the Brokaw fire was placed in the hands of the executive committee.

The usual amount of painting and decorating was awarded, and several minor fixtures added to Russell Sage dormitory. A hostess room such as is in the other dormitories will be installed.

All the trustees were reelected. John Alexander, son of L. M. Alexander was elected to fill a vacancy for a full term, L. M. Nash and Mrs. Harriet Nicholson were the alumni members reelected.

The same officers of the board were reelected with the exception of Dr. J. S. Beebe, who was named secretary to fill the place of H. G. Saecker, resigned. James A. Wood will again be treasurer and business manager, and Olin Mead is registrar.

"Whereas, we gathered here this evening to celebrate the completion of the Cherry Street Bridge, to dedicate it to the development and prosperity of our community, it is fitting that we call to mind the men who made this occasion possible. The Cherry Street Bridge is the realization of a dream. For many years leaders among our people realized the desirability of a crossing over the Fox River in the west end of the city, they dream of the benefit a bridge at Cherry Street would be to this city and the surrounding community, but it was not until the dream was crystallized under determination and wise leadership that a start was made.
This leadership was provided in a large measure by Henry Reuter then Mayor of Appleton. Mr. Reuter aided by the counsel of the aldermen and other citizens with large visions and a high sense of duty to their community, crystallized the enthusiasm and directed the energy of our citizens to make possible this occasion we are celebrating today.

Therefore, Be it Resolved that Appleton and other communities here represented, all benefitted by the Cherry Street Bridge, publicly acknowledge the debt of gratitude they owe to former Mayor Henry Reuter, and the men who aided him, the wise leadership which they exercised in the financing and the construction of the Cherry Street Bridge, and be it further
Resolved, that a copy of this resolution be sent to the Common Council of the city of Appleton with the request that it be made a part of the permanent record of the city.
The above resolution was unanimously passed at the gathering for the dedication of Cherry Street Bridge on the evening of May 26, 1925."
(signed)
John Goodland Jr., Mayor & Chairman of Cherry St. Bridge Dedication on motion same was adopted.

A POLISHED PLANK
In most Masons equipment you will find one highly polished plank. The Masons using Gochnauer's Block have no blocks delivered until the footing is in and the mortar mixed. Then the blocks are slid directly from the trucks into the basement.
One man's labor is saved and incidentally the Plank is Polished.

Genasco Shingles
Locked on your roof — right over the old shingles
Re-roofing the "Genasco Way" — right over your old weather-damaged wood shingles — is the economical and safe way. Whether it's a home, barn, stable, or garage.
It saves the time, trouble and cost of ripping off the old shingles. And it saves exposing the interior of your building — even for a moment — to the weather while re-roofing.
Genasco Latite Shingles are built on a foundation of tough, rag felt, thoroughly saturated and then waterproofed with Trinidad Lake Asphalt Cement. They are weather-safe and fire-resisting — durable and attractive.
Come in and let us show you these wonderful shingles.
